JUDGE WARNER OF BEACH CITY PASSES IN S. A.

Judge C. W. Warner, 71, pioneer resident of Huntington Beach and one of the most prominent political figures in the Orange county beach town, died last night at the Santa Ana Valley hospital, from the results of a major operation. Funeral services will be held Wednesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock from the First Methodist Episcopal church of Huntington Beach. The Rev. S. J. Rogers, pastor of the Huntington Beach church, will be in charge.

Warner has been a resident of California for the past 33 years and has resided in Huntington Beach since 1906. He was one of the most active community builders in the town. He was a member of the first city board of trustees in Huntington Beach and was instrumental in securing the formation of the Huntington Beach union high school.

For the past 12 years Warner has held the offices of city recorder and justice of the peace, with the exception of a few short periods. He occupied the office of city recorder at the time of his death. He had been in ill health for some time.

Warner is survived by his widow, Mrs. Anna Warner and a son, Willis H. Warner, of Huntington Beach; a son, Carlos C. Warner, of San Francisco, and two sisters, Mrs. Henry Harding, of Santa Ana; and Mrs. Henry Walters, of Binghamton, N. Y.

Warner was born in New York state. He later moved to Illinois, where he was married to Jennie M. Cooper. Two children were born. The couple moved to California, settling in Huntington Beach in 1906, when the town was little more than a dot on the landscape. Mrs. Warner died in 1909 and in 1912 Warner married for the second time to Mrs. Anna K. Cummings of Huntington Beach.

Burial will be made in the Huntington Beach cemetery under the direction of S. L. Harrell, Huntington Beach undertaker.

ATTORNEYS MAKE FINAL ARGUMENTS

between her co-defendant and the commonwealth. She has been put in one of the most unfair positions ever seen in an American court of justice.

"I, like Mr. Millard, have been a public prosecutor.

"And in 16 years I never have seen as despicable a creature as this man Gray."

Wallace attacked the "drunkenness" defense of Gray.

"They said they would show you he was intoxicated," Wallace told the jury. "Why, to that anaconda a quart of whiskey accomplished no more than shooting the Rock of Gibraltar with a popgun."

"They were going to prove that he was dominated. Why, this man was the superior in experience and education. He had spent his life influencing women."

JACKSONVILLE, Ore., May 9.—Rumors that I. W. W. money is being used in defending Hugh D'Autremont in his trial here on charges of aiding in the Siskiyou tunnel loup and murders, were denied today.

Fred E. Smith, chief counsel for the youthful D'Autremont, charged that such stories are being circulated in Jackson county and in Portland.

"It is a lie," Smith said. "The D'Autremonts have no money."

Smith also charged that personal letters he mails to his wife and friends are being opened before they reach their destination. The same is true of personal mail sent to Eugene by David Evans, Smith's partner, who is here assisting the defense, he said.

Extravagant Guarantees or Performance— Which do you want?

If you purchased an automobile or any piece of mechanical machinery you would hardly expect a lifetime guarantee on it. In fact, you would probably be looking for the catch if such a guarantee were offered you. Common sense tells us that any piece of machinery will eventually wear out.

The same is true of an electric cleaner. You purchase it not with the idea that it will wear forever but to clean thoroughly, easily and quickly, removing the burden of old-fashioned laborious cleaning methods. When you choose your cleaner choose The New Hoover, with Positive Agitation, the one that will perform these tasks most efficiently.

The New Hoover is guaranteed to clean more thoroughly, to make rugs wear years longer, to render the utmost possible mechanical service.

Perhaps you are considering buying some other make of electric cleaner. If so, do not be confused by extravagant guarantees not be influenced by the claims of over-zealous salesmen.

Phone us and we will bring a New Hoover to your home. Try it and compare it carefully with any other cleaner you may have in mind. Then make your choice.

EXILE OF ACADIANS AGAIN
ENACTED AS FLOOD WATERS
POUR THROUGH RIVER LEVEE

By BRUCE CATTON
NEA Service Writer
(Copyright, 1927, NEA Service, Inc.)

NEW ORLEANS, May 9.—The exile of the Acadians has been re-enacted. Fate has repeated its cruel trick of two centuries ago. The people of Evangeline and Gabriel once more have had to bid their homes goodbye and taken up the heart-breaking trail to the land of strangers.
When a mighty charge of dynamite ripped open the great levee between Foydras and Braithwaite, 15 miles south of New Orleans, and sent the flooded Mississippi boiling and swirling over the green fields and pleasant homes of St. Bernard and Plaquemines parishes, the Acadians were made homeless again.

For those two parishes were peopled by French-speaking descendants of the Nova Scotians whom the British removed by force from their northern homeland more than 200 years ago—the people about whom Longfellow wrote his immortal poem, "Evangeline."

History has repeated itself.
But whereas the first migration moved in the procession. Ancient wagons drawn by oxen and mules were sandwiched in between motor trucks and touring cars. One woman sat in a truck, loaded solely with innumerable potted plants and flowers.
The tale of the exile from Acadia was a household legend in nearly every home, handed down
by word of mouth for generations;
to it had been added the story of 1814, when the Acadians fled north before General Pakenham and the British troops, to return after Andrew Jackson's Kentucky
riflemen had repelled the red-coated files. There was a Gallic, effervescing philosophy to sustain these people, bred in the bone by a tradition of exile, and it worked robly.

Prior to the destruction of the levee the exodus of the Acadians went on. It was a tragic sight, a sight to be compared with the frightened flight of French peasants in 1814 before the advance of the field gray armies of Von Moltke.

The Modern Acadia
Five thousand people lived in this modern Acadia. The two parishes they occupied were well worthy of the name, Acadia.
Homes were banked with bright flowers of blue and gold and crimson and creamy-white, such as a Louisiana spring brings forth in abundance. Their fields were green with sprouting corn. The orderly little gardens of the truck farmers were prolific with early vegetables for the big cities to the north. On the horizon was the flat, dotted line of the levee—the great earthen wall that held back the Mississippi and enabled the Acadians to live in peace.

Then came Gov. O. H. Simpson's order to dynamite the levee.
Suddenly the Acadians realized that this dreamy peace was a delusion. The exodus began.

And on Friday the blast was set off, and the modern Acadia was replaced by a dreary, slate-colored sea, turbulent and desolate, as the Mississippi broke through Lake Beller, down Bayou Terre aux Boeufs and through Breton
Sound to the Gulf of Mexico.

Their Stoic Attitude
Through all this the Acadians have complained very little. Perhaps the stoic ability to endure exile was bred in their bones by the forced migration from the northland, years ago. At events, they bore their march to New Orleans with heroic spirits and Gallic gallantry.

The roads from St. Bernard and Plaquemines parishes to New Orleans were jammed for days. Companies of soldiers patrolled towns and farm lands, superintending the migration. Here and there in the crowds gleamed the blue uniform of the New Orleans policemen, loaned by the city to the parish sheriffs. Clouds of dust went up from every road endlessly, to hang over the landscape like a pall, as seemingly endless streams of people made their way northward.

Flocks and herds accompanied the crowds. Men and women and little children, uncomplaining, trudged along the weary miles in the choking dust—dust raised by countless feet, by horses, by steel-shod wheels of lumbering farm wagons, by the rubber tires of great auto trucks.
To the other side of the levee

Chickens and Ducks Protest
Day and night the stream of refugees poured northeast. Above the slatted sides of motor trucks stove pipes canted crazily, beds
and bedding, tables and toys, clothing and furniture, rolled mattresses, tables—all the curious collection of goods that go to filled the strange loads that moved so inconspicuously beneath the blue

School Teacher Chooses to Hit Chandler Corner
Than Other Auto

The lives of Mrs. Alice Taulbee and her little son were in jeopardy this morning when a car Mrs. Tau-bee was driving crashed into the corner window of the Chandler Furniture store, Main and Third streets, wrecked the automobile, broke two sections of plate glass and bent the supporting post on the corner. Occupants of the car escaped injury, their only hurts being cuts on the lips.
Mrs. Taulbee resides at 610 East Myrtle street, and is teacher of art, geography and nature study at the Artesia street school. She was on her way to the school when the accident happened.

Driving south on Main street, the teacher headed her car into the business building in order to avoid a collision with a car driven by Mrs. E. J. Eastham, 213 East
Berkeley street.

According to a statement by Mrs.
Eastham she was driving west on Third street and was making a turn south to Main street when Mrs. Taulbee's machine entered the intersection. The cars did not come into contact.

When the car hit the display windows the crash of glass could be heard for several blocks, with the result that a large crowd quickly gathered at the corner.

Mrs. Taulbee and her son were thrown against the windshield according to eye witnesses, and surprise was expressed that they were not more seriously hurt.
It is estimated it will cost $250
to replace the plate glass windows.
The damage is covered by insurance carried by Chandler.

their breeding stock is practically 100 per cent bred to produce only

Hayward ranks close to San Diego,
Calif., for third place as a poultry

FRENCH FLYERS ARE BELIEVED NEARING GOAL

dropping the landing gear of their plane, the only means they would have of alighting on land should they reach North America, was typical of them.

The two men sit almost side by side in the plane. Nungesser is the pilot. He sits at his controls a little forward of the position of Coll's seat. He cannot change his position. Coll is the navigator and he can move and work at his instruments with a little more freedom than Nungesser.

Neither could get at the engines, except by a miracle, as gasoline tanks rest between the pilot's compartment and the motor.

Carry Concentrated Food

They carry an emergency supply of concentrated food, hot coffee, wine and stimulants, including a preparation designed to prevent them falling asleep.

The plane is a Levasseur bi-plane, painted white. On the fuselage is painted in black the skull and cross bones under a coffin, flanked by two candles, which was the grim insignia of Nungesser's squadron of aviators during the war. The French tricolor also adorns the plane.

The plane is known as the marine type, in that its body is so built that it is water proof and could ride a moderate sea for a short time, depending upon weather conditions, without danger to those aboard. It can land on water but, because it carries no pontoons, cannot take off excepting from land with a landing gear which was dropped when the flight started.

If the flight succeeds it will set a record for overseas flight. The present record is held by Commander Rodgers and his men who flew nearly to Honolulu in the United States navy's projected trans-Pacific flight from San Francisco. They fell some 75 miles short of their goal in the Hawaiian islands.

PARIS CELEBRATES, AS ARRIVAL IS REPORTED

PARIS, May 9.—Paris began celebrating the arrival of Nungesser and Coll's flight from New York at 7:30 p. m. (2:30 p. m. eastern daylight savings time) today.

Airplanes flew over Paris, dropping red flares, and cannon boomed, announcing that the flyers had reached their objective.

Paul Painlevé, minister of war, believed Nungesser and Coll had arrived. He sent the following cable to them in New York:

"I address to you the warmest congratulations and expression of my admiration for your magnificent crossing of the Atlantic. Your accomplishment marks an unforgettable date in the heroic history of French aviation."

BELLANCA PLANE MAY LEAVE TOMORROW

NEW YORK, May 9.—The Bellanca monoplane, in which Lloyd Bertraud and Clarence Chamberlin plan to make their New York to Paris flight attempt will leave for Paris tomorrow morning, weather permitting, if Nungesser and Coll fail to arrive by night. G. M. Bellanca, builder of the plane, told the United Press today.

Bellanca, Charles Levine, one of the backers of the flight, Bertraud and Chamberlin, will meet late today to study weather maps and determine whether conditions are such as to permit them to start. They believe all will be favorable.

ARREST FRUIT MAN ON THEFT CHARGE

Held in the county jail on suspicion of grand larceny, Louis Chionna, 28, fruit salesman and peddler, will be taken to Los Angeles today for arraignment. Ed McClellan, chief criminal deputy sheriff, said.

Chionna was arrested in Los Angeles yesterday by Deputy Sheriff Knight and Howard in connection with a series of avocado thefts from the Luther Lindour ranch at La Habra.

Thefts had been taking place from the Lindour grove for the past six months, officers said, the value of the fruit running into thousands of dollars.

Governor Signs Counties Bill

SACRAMENTO, May 9.—Governor Young today signed the general county government bill by Assemblyman Charles R. Reinholdt of San Rafael, which permits California counties to do everything from allowing veterans to peddle without license to cremate their own dead.

The bill permits counties to increase their special tax from two to four cents for advertising and exploiting resources of the county, and allows Los Angeles to purchase the botanical gardens in that city for county use. It permits county charges to be placed in private hospitals if the regular county hospitals are not available.

Motorists Escape Death at Crossing

RIVERSIDE, May 9.—Six Los Angeles motorists narrowly escaped death when a machine, driven by N. Leven, sped across a railroad crossing at Wineville, near here, last night and overturned on a sharp curve. Leven suffered body bruises and was treated at the Community hospital following the crash. Others escaped injury.

Five Arrested On Drunk Charge

Five men were arrested by the sheriff's officers yesterday afternoon at San Clemente after a call had been received here that a "free-for-all" battle was in progress. Four of the men are being held on drunk charges, the fifth on a charge of possession of intoxicating liquor.

Those arrested are R. Rellias, 25; Joe Machiche, 28; Manuel Guerrero, 27; Francisco Munguana, 29; and F. Puncuena, 25. Machiche is charged with possession of liquor. The quintette will be given a hearing, probably this afternoon, before Justice Kenneth Morrison.

CIANFONI SEES MUSIC FUTURE FOR SANTA ANA

By D. C. CIANFONI
(Director Santa Ana Symphony Orchestra and Santa Ana Municipal Band.)

When one considers that within the past week the message of music has brought happiness and inspiration to over 20,000 people of our city, and that these same people have gone back to their every-day routine of living, stimulated and awakened to a keener realization of the important part music may play in the lives of both community and individual, surely it is safe to predict that such a marvelously successful experience will be productive of an infinite good in future years to come.

The splendid, record-breaking audiences which packed the high school auditorium to full capacity at each nightly performance during Music week, and the hearty interest displayed by enthusiastic citizens during the musical hours conducted daily in downtown industrial centers, department stores and public institutions, proved beyond all doubt the keenly appreciative attitude of our townspeople toward the national celebration of Music week, in which our own town has just played so active a part. One cannot help but feel that an immense improvement it would be if Santa Ana possessed a really adequate municipal auditorium, centrally located, where such events might be more effectively staged.

Plans are now being considered which will make possible an annual celebration of this national event here in our own city, to which our townspeople may look forward with eager anticipation. Our sincere endeavor shall be to stimulate popular interest in the growth and development of community music that Santa Ana may thus become representative of music, this foremost of the arts, throughout not only Southern California, but the entire nation.

San Bernardino has her annual Orange show, Pasadena her annual Tournament of Roses—other communities foster various festivals, which attract widespread interest and focus upon them the attention of the public. Santa Ana has the novelty. Let Santa Ana then have her annual Music week, let her awaken to the vital opportunities such an experience would inevitably present—let her realize the almost inestimable value such an event would mean in the way of publicity and national advertising of our town.

At the present time several eastern communities hold annual music festivals which are attended by music-lovers from all over the country, and which have made these cities nationally known. Surely so more worthy and striking method of civic advertising could be adopted.

Santa Ana possesses amazing possibilities for musical progress, for popular standards and ideals of musical appreciation here are already of a superior quality, and the very striking talent among the youth of our town has recently been plainly evidenced, and awaits only our encouragement and aid.

In behalf of the local Music Week Committee, as program chairman, I wish to express our gratitude to the Santa Ana Chamber of Commerce, for their cooperation which made this event possible—also to each member of the committee, who worked together so earnestly and conscientiously for a period of over two months, perfecting the many details which contributed so decidedly to the enjoyable program; offered free to all. Especially, our appreciation goes out to the citizens of Santa Ana, whose whole-hearted support and interest made possible the overwhelming success of our recent celebration.

NO TORONTO PEACHES

TORONTO, May 9.—There will be no parallels to the "Peaches" Browning adoption case in Toronto. A law has been passed which will prevent adoption by males of any female under age, except in special circumstances approved by the attorney general. Even the consent of the parents is not sufficient grounds for issuing permission for such an adoption.

MOTHERS' DAY WIDELY MARKED BY S. A. FOLK

With Santa Ana florists working overtime to deliver hundreds of telegraphic orders from all parts of the county, with telegraph wires busy carrying messages of love and remembrance to mothers here and elsewhere in the United States, and with church sermons devoted to the significance of the day, Mothers' Day was observed generally in Santa Ana yesterday.

The various churches registered a record attendance for the forenoon Sunday service at which tribute was paid to motherhood by the pastors in their sermons.

Florist shops were working late Saturday night and early Sunday morning to execute the hundreds of telegraphic orders that were pouring into their offices. The business of the Santa Ana florists were doubled by the fact that there were as many outgoing telegraphic orders for flowers to be delivered in other cities as there were incoming orders. While the greater number of orders called for carnations, there were not a few that called for red roses.

In hundreds of homes in Santa Ana there were reunions of families in honor of mothers, the reunion being in many cases marked by dinners and other celebrations.

Inquiries at the local telegraph office and at the florist shops revealed that the observance of Mothers' Day is steadily increasing with the passing of years.

APPROVE PLANS FOR GATHERING OF STATE C. E.

Booster delegates of the California Christian Endeavor union, who visited Santa Ana over the week end to go over the plans for holding the state convention here June 22 to 26, gave their stamp of approval to the plans made today by the committees were launched on the last month's activities in preparing for the 3000 young people who are expected for the convention.

From indications, the convention will be one of the biggest that the state union has held in years, it was said.

The convention boosters, with the state officers, inspected the grounds for the open air amphitheater back of the Santa Ana Y. M. C. A. and went over the arrangements for housing the delegates with Herbert Rankin, general chairman of the Santa Ana convention committee, and John Henderson, chairman of the housing committee.

At noon the delegation went to Balboa for a beach luncheon. Through arrangements with the Santa Ana Chamber of Commerce, the same trip is to be made by the convention delegations on parade day.

Sunday afternoon the state officers met with the Orange county Christian Endeavor societies in the Y. M. C. A. building. Miss Edith Culy, county president, presided.

An executive session of the Santa Ana convention committee was held in the First Presbyterian church. Definite action was taken to hold the financial drive during the week from May 22 to May 29 and the entertainment program from May 29 to June 6. The committee lists were to be completed before the next meeting May 22 and committee members invited to attend the convention session on that date in the Y. M. C. A. building.

ALLEGED BANDIT SLAIN BY POLICE

LONG BEACH, Calif., May 9.—Holdup victims are visiting the morgue here today to view the body of Leroy Eugene Hunter, 30, of Compton, slain last night by police.

It is believed that the youth is the bandit who has terrorized local residents for the last three weeks. Douglas Newcomb, principal of Seaside Park school, declared that Hunter is the man who held up a woman companion and himself recently.

Hunter was shot after a lengthy pursuit through streets of the city, when police located him driving an automobile reported stolen.

One of the officers on the running board of the police car opened fire when the youth disregarded summons to stop.

Hunter's car careened to the curb and he was found with a bullet through the left side near the heart. He died while being removed to a hospital.

Parliament Houses To Be Rejuvenated

LONDON, May 9.—More than $15,000,000 will be spent in rejuvenating the house of parliament if the plan of all crafts of the building trades presented to the government here recently is adopted.

A deputation representing the building trades recently called upon Lord Peel, first commissioner of public works, and presented the plan which calls for refacing the entire fabric of the parliament building.

Under the plan the stonework, now seriously decaying, would be entirely restored.

FOUR ARE HURT AS RESULT OF AUTO CRASHES

Four persons were reported injured in as many automobile accidents in Orange county over the week end. One man was lodged in the county jail, charged with driving an automobile while intoxicated, as the result of one accident. None of those injured were hurt seriously.

Melvin Cleighon, of the San Juan Gun club, suffered lacerations about the eyes when the automobile he was driving collided with a car driven by Alonzo Hollman, 485 South Whitman street, Santa Ana, at Chestnut street and Orange avenue at 7 p. m. yesterday. He was taken to the Santa Ana Valley hospital and later removed to his home.

Officers Perry and Jaynes arrested Hollman and lodged him in the county jail on a charge of driving while intoxicated. He was not hurt.

Two women were injured when cars driven by Louis Germann, Route No. 1, Villa Park, and A. H. McMillan, 1117 North Ardmore street, Los Angeles, respectively, collided at Broadway and Washington avenue yesterday. A Mrs. Rouse, riding in the Germann car suffered bruises about the legs. Mrs. McMillan was cut and bruised and a 12-year-old boy, riding in the McMillan car was cut about the mouth according to accident reports filed at the police station.

Narrow escape from injury was reported by A. W. Davis, of the Orange county hospital, when the ambulance he was driving collided with a car driven by the Rev. J. Cory, Route No. 4, Anaheim, at Anaheim, Saturday. Little damage was done, according to a report filed by Davis at the sheriff's office.

Ed M. Trumbley, San Clemente, reported that his car was damaged when struck from the rear by several cars, after a machine driven by J. L. Gott, Maywood, had run him off the road north of San Juan Capistrano. He reported that after he was crowded off the road, he got into another car and chased the Gott machine. When he returned he found that his car had been struck from behind by several other machines. No one was reported injured.

Interesting Letter
Describes Flood
Conditions

With everyone's sympathies aroused for the sufferers in the Mississippi flood, one of the most devastating calamities the country has ever known, letters from friends in that section are of special importance. Everyone will be keenly interested in one written by Mrs. W. F. Long of Vicksburg, who scores of Santa Anans warmly remember the writer as Miss Lucile Boyle, formerly of this city.

Mrs. Long is a sister of Mrs. E. E. Keesh, 319 South Main street, and the letter is one written to Mrs. Keesh. Mr. Long is chief engineer with the Mississippi Light and Power company. Part of the letter is as follows:

"If you did not know from having been here, how high and dry we are on the Vicksburg hills. I know you would be more uneasy than you were about the reports of the tornado. The report that the tornado had crippled the Vicksburg plant, was a mistake. There was a terrific storm here, but the tornado district was twenty miles away. Frank worked all night in order to be in position to take care of the load if the high lines failed.

"It was also necessary even then, to keep the sea-wall pumps running on account of the high water. We are safe so far from the flood but the sea-wall pumps have been a source of grave anxiety and we are faced by constant danger of the wall giving way. There have been several breaks, and an army of men has worked constantly trying to save manufacturing plants, machine shops, railroads and station and much of the large business part of the city."

"We are fortunate to be living in Vicksburg while the old Mississippi is on such a 'tear'—but the poor people from the flooded and destitute neighboring towns! Greenville and so many of the beautiful Delta places are a barren waste of scorching water. I have read of how awful such floods could be, but never did I think that I would see the horrible and heart-rending scenes that have been pictured here the last week. It is heart-breaking to see the forlorn and sad-eyed refugees from all walks of life. Whole families are separated—not knowing whether loved ones are safe or what is their fate. Many saw those near and dear to them drowned before their very eyes, and were powerless to save them.

"Others are searching for their children—little children crying for their parents. Husbands and wives are frantic, not knowing where to find each other. Dixie and the whole United States are doing wonderful rescue work. All sorts of river craft from government boats to motor launchers and tiny canoes are busy night and day, and relief trains are bringing whites and blacks by the hundreds."

"Optimistic Refugees
"They are still searching the river for marooned victims. Homes and savings, crops and business of a life time are gone. Yet it is wonderful to see so much optimism as does exist. The gratitude seems expressed in the answer that a poor old colored woman gave. She sat with scarcely any clothing on, a chicken in a sack and a tin pail by her side. She was asked, 'Auntie is that all you saved from the flood?' True faith shone from her eyes as she answered, 'Yes, chile, but the good Lord saved me and put me on dry land. I know he will take care of me.'

"Hundreds were rescued from tree-tops, roofs and haylofts where they had been for over two days without food or water. It was bitter cold, as the thermometer had dropped from 84 to 40 degrees in the first days of the flood. I don't see how they hung on the trees and kept alive in the cold."

"So many are coming in scantily clad, (in many cases the negroes will just have sacks wrapped around them) so fast were the towns submerged in ten, fifteen and twenty feet of water after the breaking of the levees. Vicksburg from the first, has opened arms and heart in hospitality, and with the assistance of all her citizens, the government and Secretary Hoover, is doing all possible, to feed, clothe and shelter them."

"Road stations, churches, lodges halls, Y. M. C. A. and private residences with extra rooms are taking care of all they can. Besides, so many government camps are carried on in different places on the edge of the city and in the National park, for both white people and negroes. The latest report is that Vicksburg is now looking after about 9000 refugees. Airplanes and hydroplanes have aided so much in locating and in rescue work."

Jurors Excused
When First Case
Of Term Delayed

The newly drawn trial jury panel reported for duty today in Superior Judge James L. Allen's court, only to find that the case set for trial there had been postponed.

Judge Allen qualified the new jury for service, excusing two members of the panel who were disqualified by reason of having served on other juries within the last year. Mrs. Myrtle Cravath, of Laguna Beach, who was a member of the trial jury in 1926, and John Beneke, of Anaheim, a member of the 1926 grand jury, were the two excused.

LEAGUE ENDS SLAVERY
GENEVA, May 9.—Until recently, Kalat, in Baluchistan, was a stronghold of slavery. Men and women slaves not only were the personal property of the Kalat tribesmen, but the owners were not obliged to feed or clothe them. Interference of the League of Nations has brought an official decree from the tribal chiefs freeing all slaves.

SISTERS TELL OF BETROTHAL AT DOUBLE ANNOUNCEMENT PARTY

The charming story of two betrothals and a double wedding in the near future, was related by the Misses Inez and Velma Moore, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Moore, 102 South Birch street, at a delightful bridge tea given Saturday afternoon at Santa Ana Country Club. Friends of the young people have been aware of the engagement of Miss Inez Moore and Dr. Robert C. Curri and Miss Velma Moore and Elbert Huff, and Saturday's function had as its underlying cause, the delightful news of the selected wedding date, June 14.

Many Flowers Used
Friends were delighted to send the richest flowers of their gardens to aid in making the day a happy one, and the clubhouse fairly blossomed with beauty. The fireplace bore great baskets of vari-colored blooms as did console tables and every point of vantage.

After the guests had gathered, way was led to the card room on the second floor where card tables were arranged against a floral background. Bridge was soon in full progress and at the close of an exciting session, a beautiful card plate in gold encrusted, gem-studded crystal, was presented Miss Kathleen Murray, scoring high; a picture in Della Robbia ware was presented Miss Irene Harris as second prize, and consolation gift of a poudre box in the same ware was third prize won by Miss Lella Schornagle.

Wedding Date Told
Returning to the first floor, the guests found a long table awaiting them in the solarium. There each place was marked by a card whose softly tinted ribbons led to the center where a lovely girl face was enshrined. Ribbons were drawn and it was found that the pretty face concealed the small cards on which the names of the two hostesses and their fiancés were inscribed together with the potent date, June 14.

Miss Inez Moore graduated last June from the Westlake School for Girls in Los Angeles. Her fiancé, Dr. Currie, took his medical course at University of Southern California. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Currie, 105 South Birch street.

Miss Velma Moore and her sister, Miss Rowena Moore, will finish at Broad Oaks in Pasadena, in June. Miss Velma's fiancé, Elbert Huff, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Huff, 1615 West Fifth street.

Many Guests Bidden
Guests asked to enjoy the afternoon and learn the selected wedding date in so delightful a manner, included in addition to Mrs. F. E. Moore, Miss Rowena Moore, Mrs. W. R. Currie and Mrs. W. M. Huff, the Misses Thelma Ariz, Helen Battey, Jean Ross, Mildred Whitson, Mrs. William Noble, (Marion Preston) Mrs. John McFadden, (Athleta Johns) Mrs. Byron Stump, (Mary Jo Huff) Mrs. Neil Stanley, (Dorothy Greene) Mrs. William Weeks, (Virginia Russell) Mrs. Le Roy Wardlaw, Mrs. W. F. Menton, Mrs. De Mass, Mrs. J. Will Taylor Jr., Mrs. Ralph Miller, Santa Ana.

Miss Myrl Neuman, San Diego; Miss Embersine McMillan, Spokane, Wash.; Miss Pearl Karpe, Bakersfield; Miss Lella Schornagle, Covina; Miss Lilla Thomas, Miss Louise Marie Trickey and Miss Roselyn Wallace, Pomona; Miss Sascha Muller, Miss Eleanor Griffiths, Honolulu; Miss Violet Nelson and Miss Alma Haase, Fillmore; Miss Ann Stewart, Santa Barbara; Miss Kathleen Murray, Miss Amy Myers and Mrs. Frederick Sinclair, Los Angeles; Miss Mathy Lowe, Filinridge; Miss Irene Harris, Santa Monica, Mrs. Herbert Brisley, Mrs. William Brown and Mrs. Bernice Rice, Louise Sutcliffe, Margaret Davis, Inez Taylor, Jean Brisley and Vivian Williams, Pasadena.

The shower came at the end of the usual series of bridge games, when Miss King was informed that she was to receive guest prize and Miss Helen Craemer was to be rewarded for scoring high. The guest prize was a quaint Chinese parasol and when the honoree had opened it, it served to protect her from a sudden shower-of handkerchiefs, a lovely one from each member of the club, Miss Kathleen Owens, Miss Betty Newlands, Miss Janey Wilde, Miss Maurie Hamill, Miss Priscilla Allen, Miss Helen Craemer, Mrs. Bruce Switzer and the hostess, Mrs. Elliott.

A rare-bit supper was served as the evening drew to a close, and tables were arranged with Cecil Brunner buds and Japanese fan favors. Miss Newlands aided the hostess in serving.

Miss King goes back to McConnellsville, Ohio, the home of her parents, Dr. and Mrs. James Alfred King. Miss Inez Moore, Santa Ana stay she has been cashier at the George W. Dunton company, local Ford and Lincoln dealers.

NO MORE STRAPS
NEW YORK, May 9.—For many years, John Emory Andrus, manufacturer and capitalist, rode back and forth to work in the subway. He was called "the richest strap hanger" and always said he got the most from his nickel that way. But one of his legs was injured in a rush-hour jam recently and now, at 88, Andrus has bought a motor car.

A pleasant event is scheduled for tomorrow evening, at 7:30 o'clock, when members and friends of the First Evangelical church, Tenth and Main streets, will give an entertainment sponsored by the Plus Ultra class of the Sunday school. A program of solos and choruses, sketches and readings will be given. The musical part of the program will include two double quartets of male voices. Ernest Crozier, Phillips, Merle Ramsey and the Misses Ramsey are among those who are expected to assist in the entertainment. The choruses will be under the direction of Mrs. Albert Rohrs of Orange. The offering will be donated to the pipe organ fund.

Ebell Past Presidents
Are Entertained
In Davis Home

Those who have had the honor of piloting the Ebell society through the turbulent but delightful waters of a year's presidency, were complimented in charming manner by one of their number, Mrs. Samuel M. Davis, who was hostess late last week, at a luncheon in her home, 120 West Eighteenth street.

Spring flowers used with lavish prodigality, added to the attractiveness of the home, and made a fragrant and lovely setting for the group. Luncheon was served at one long table arranged in the dining-room and adorned with pink sweet peas and yellow columbine in spring-like effect.

Name cards were written for the hostess, Mrs. Davis, Mrs. W. S. Bartlett of Los Angeles, the society's first president; Mrs. Victor Montgomery, Mrs. Edward M. Nealley, Mrs. J. R. Medlock, Mrs. August J. Crookshank, Mrs. W. L. Grubb, Mrs. John E. Gowen, Mrs. John Clarkson, Mrs. Terry E. Stephenson and Mrs. Gowen's houseguest, Miss Elizabeth Brownlee.

Of the other past presidents who live in this city, Mrs. J. W. Bishop was ill and could not be present, Mrs. C. F. Crose was in Sacramento at the state convention of the Federation of Women's clubs, and Mrs. Samuel W. Nau is still absent on a world cruise.

Luncheon was followed by a brief business session during which the Past Presidents' association voted the sum of $25 to the flood relief fund. The remainder of the afternoon was purely social and offered the usual friendly session of a meeting of Ebell past presidents.

Collegians Enjoy
Freshman Dance

A festive occasion for the sophomores of the Santa Ana Junior college was celebrated Saturday night when they were guests of the freshman class at the annual freshman-sophomore dance held in Andrews gymnasium, under charge of Clarence Trickey, freshman class president.

The dance was given as a return compliment for the hop held earlier in the year at which the freshmen were entertained by the upperclassmen.

By 10:30 o'clock, the ball-room floor was thronged with about 100 students. Dancing continued until the notes of "Home Sweet Home" sent the students away at the midnight hour.

Chaperons for the affair were Miss Mabel Whiting, Miss Agnes Miller, Mr. and Mrs. William Foote and Mr. and Mrs. Graham Harris.

Expressman Delivers
Shower Gifts to Bride-elect

Bridge was the entertainment of a group of young people who responded to invitations recently issued by Miss Annie Tarver and Miss Elizabeth Ott, by assembling Saturday afternoon at the I. L. Ott home, 928 North Olive street, but the principal enjoyment of the afternoon was that derived from complimenting the bride-elect of the group, Miss Dorothy Holmes.

For the party was planned as a compliment to Miss Holmes, charming young fiancée of Frances Selway, and the compliment took the form of a shower of lovely and varied gifts.

Tones of yellow ranging from palest corn color to deep orange, made the party setting a lovely and artistic one, and varied indeed were the yellow and golden blossoms used. At the close of the bridge session, yellow wrapped and tied rewards were a dainty organy boudoir pillow presented to Miss Mavis Diehl, a majolica candlestick to Mrs. Minor Cox and a consoling "Felix Cat" to Miss Lucille Lowell.

Arrival of an American Railway Express company car and the expressman's knock on the door provided a diversion, and the large box delivered added to the general merriment when it was found to be for Miss Holmes. She opened it to find an array of smaller packages which held many lovely gifts of her friends.

At the tea hour, the two young hostesses, centered the linen-draped tables with waxed pond lilies, pale lemon-yellow, placing individual good-luck candles in waxed flower holders, at each cover, and served a dainty tea menu with the assistance of their mothers, Mrs. I. L. Ott and Mrs. Ben Tarver.

Enjoying the varied features of the afternoon with the hostesses, Miss Ott and Miss Tarver, and their honoree, Miss Dorothy Holmes, were the Misses Virginia Berry, Bonnie Dunham, Melba Patterson, Olive Goodman, Sara Hales, Murrel Knox, Alice Majors, Lucille Lowell, Minna Schrock, Lavenia O'Toole, Helen Battey, Margaret Carothers, Rebecca Budrow, Helen Bowers, Adelaide Spencer, Mavis Diehl, Berthena Selway, Margaret Patterson, Virginia Slabaugh, Evelyn Fransworth, Emily Holmes, Lucy Holmes, Mrs. Rolla A. Hays Jr., Mrs. Minor Cox, Santa Ana; Miss Helen Gunning, of Redlands; Miss June McGrew of Long Beach; Miss Pearl Winters and Miss Jeannette Winters of Pasadena.

substitutes if you seek the famous Quaker flavor

THE point to remember when buying breakfast oats is that only Quaker Oats have the rich Quaker flavor that you want.

One package of oats without that flavor may spoil your breakfasts for a week.

The price you pay is the same. Thus "trying" a substitute is a folly. Quaker flavor is the result of some 50 years milling experience. No other oats has it. Quaker milling, too, retains much of the "bulk" of oats. And that makes laxatives less often needed. FARM SETTING EMPLOYED IN H. S. OPERETTA

A quaint New England farm provides the setting for the three-act operetta, "A Village Squire," which will be presented by the students of the Santa Ana high school music department May 20 in afternoon and evening performances.

The combined glee clubs, under the direction of Miss Myrtle Martin, have been holding rehearsals on the operetta for the past few weeks.

Members of the cast, in keeping with the atmosphere of New England country life, will be costumed in overalls and old-fashioned dresses. The players engage in rollicking fun and old time games. A city element is introduced when a group of college students visit the farm to have a good time among their friends.

The plot of the operetta centers about the desire of David Greene, the discontented rustic farm lad, to follow the romance of the sea. The part is played by Roger Hearn. He is assisted in his plans by Captain Fenton, played by Clarence Siddaway. Many months after his departure, it is heard that he has been lost at sea. All proved to be a plot and he returns to win his childhood sweetheart.

The operetta was composed by Samuel J. Mustel, director of the band and orchestra at the Santa Ana high school. For three successive seasons it was shown in New York at the Lyric theater. The Presentation by the Santa Ana high school students is the first attempt of an amateur company to stage it.

Music for the operetta at the performances will be furnished by the orchestra led by Mustel. He will direct his own composition and see enacted his operetta as the outstanding undertaking of the music department for the year.

Mrs. Fay Spangler, president of the city federation, P.-T. A., was installing officer.

Mrs. Mary Robertson was presented with a past president's pin by members of the association. In a brief talk accompanying the presentation, Mrs. Spangler complimented Mrs. Robertson on the successful year she has completed.

DIVORCES ARE LOSING FAVOR WITH JAPANESE

TOKIO, May 9.—Late marriages and economic conditions have cut divorces in the Japanese empire about one-half during the last 20 years, the home department of the government estimates.

During the last year 51,637 divorces were registered and granted by the courts. Divorce in Japan is easy in most cases. When a couple mutually agree to disagree all that is necessary is for the man and woman to go to the proper governmental department and register their separation. They are thereby divorced without any red tape or legal procedure.

If there is alimony, this also is usually a matter of agreement. The only cases tried in the courts are those that are contested.

Thirty years ago there were approximately 100,000 divorce cases registered in Japan. Most of the marriages in those days were between very young persons. The cost of living was low and it required very little money for alimony and other divorce expenses. Today youthful marriages are on the wane and living costs have soared.

The government is not sure whether the late marriage fashion is good for the country or not. While marriages are still arranged by the families, more and more "love matches" are being reported, but these are not believed to be particularly successful. The Japanese are of the opinion that properly arranged marriages between persons of equal social standing and finances are the best.

It has been found in recent years that the wife divorces the husband in eight cases out of 10 and returns to her family without claiming any alimony. Lack of children, failure to support the wife properly or general incompatibility are the usual causes. Remarriages are infrequent.

The city council of a city in India has prohibited the killing of mad dogs on the ground that they are the same as human lunatics and must be put into asylums.

GOLDEN WEST SONS GATHER AT SAN PEDRO

James Utt, president, and Mel Head, former secretary, of Santa Ana Parlor of Native Sons of the Golden West, were in San Pedro today attending the fifteenth annual convention of Native Sons opening there today. The two men are delegates from the local parlor.

Delegates to the convocation were swarming into the convention city today, and a special train from Oakland and the San Francisco district landed a large number of Native Sons at San Pedro last night.

Tomorrow the Native Sons and their ladies will go by chartered steamer to Catalina Island for the day, returning for the past grand president's banquet in the evening at the California Yacht club at Wilmington.

Wednesday will be devoted to official sessions, while the visiting ladies will go by trolley to San Fernando mission and the Mission Play at San Gabriel. On that evening the grand parlor banquet will have the unique setting on a covered waterfront dock.

Thursday's program includes an all day barbecue at Point Firmin park and the grand parlor ball at night.

JACK DEMPSEY LOOKS GOOD IN RING WORKOUT

LOS ANGELES, May 9.—Jack Dempsey is still a box office attraction.

The former heavyweight champion demonstrated that fact yesterday when he attracted 5000 fans to the Gables Beach club benefit for Mississippi river flood victims. It is reported that the Manassa mauler's three-round fistfight skit with Tony Fucito and "Frenno" Benny Hill bolstered the fund by approximately $9000.

Dempsey impressed sport writers and fans that his Soper's ranch training camp grind is producing results. His eye is clear, punching effective and well-timed, and footwork impressive.

Sparring one round with Fucito and two with Hill, Dempsey's reported comeback carried a convincing tone.

Both opponents were provided with ring helmets to cushion the force of Dempsey's punches.

Dempsey will return to Soper's ranch today where he will continue his training grind for at least three weeks before announcing his ring plans.

PICK JURY TO HEAR CASE AS CRASH RESULT

A jury was empaneled today in Superior Judge James L. Allen's court to hear the case of George K. Noland against Mr. and Mrs. I. N. Lawrence.

Noland sued Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence for $5550 damages because he was injured when thrown out of their machine, which upset in an accident near Costa Mesa last June 10. Noland received a fractured skull and bruises which disabled him for three months, he claims. He demanded $5000 for his injuries, $600 for loss of wages and $50 for doctor's bills. He claimed that his doctor's bills had amounted to $109 and that Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence had paid $59 of that sum.

In their answer to the action, the defendants denied that they were responsible for the accident, which they claimed was unavoidable. They also contended that Noland's earning ability had been, not $200 per month as he claimed, but not more than $50 per month, and that his doctor's bills had amounted to no more than $67.50.

Attorneys Clyde Bishop and O. A. Jacobs were counsel for the plaintiff, Attorneys Michael F. Shannon, Thomas A. Wood and Charles V. Kearney of Los Angeles appearing for the defense.

OSK COUNTY TO PROVIDE ROOM FOR ANTIQUES AT COURTHOUSE

Old-Timers Request Board To Make Provision to House History Articles

IRS. J. C. YORBA NAMED CHAIRMAN

Exhibit Plans Are Outlined At Picnic Held Saturday At Orange County Park

The board of supervisors will provide at the courthouse a room for the housing of antiques in possession of Orange county residents, if the board acts favorably on a request to be made by a committee appointed at the picnic of old timers held at the county park Saturday under the auspices of the Orange County Federation of Parent-Teachers association.

The attendance at the picnic was not as large as was anticipated due to weather conditions. At a brief executive session following lunch, A. B. Tibbets, of Riverside, and George Raymer, secretary of the Santa Ana Chamber of Commerce, made brief addresses, stressing the value of preserving relics of the county. Tibbets announced that his collection of antiques already had been placed with another community and that it would not be available to this county. According to Raymer, the Riverside man could not reveal the name of the community which is to acquire his valuable collection.

The committee appointed to confer with the supervisors with reference to reserving a room at the county house for display of Orange county relics was named by Mrs. C. Yorba, of Placentia, who officiated as chairman as follows: Mrs. Florence Summers, Fullerton; Mrs. G. E. Straw, Orange; Mrs. G. E. Holmes, Anaheim; Mrs. Yorba, James Rice, Tustin; C. H. Eamans, Yorba Linda; Dr. C. D. Hall, Santa Ana; T. B. Taft, Huntington Beach; S. M. Davis, Santa Ana; Mrs. A. D. Yost, Brea; Ben Kraemer, Placentia; C. C. Chapman, Fullerton; Mrs. A. V. Eusey, H. A. Lake, Garden Grove, and Raymer.

The committee will report at a called meeting of old timers when it has completed the work assigned to it.

It was pointed out here today that the picnic Saturday was not the annual picnic of Orange county pioneers. The latter event will be held the last Sunday in June.

WATER EXPERTS WILL INSPECT TREE STATION

An inspection of the new Devil canyon experiment station of the Federal forest service will feature the quarterly meeting at San Bernardino May 12, of the Tri-County Water Conservation association.

Representatives from San Bernardino, Riverside and Orange counties are expected to attend the session, called by President Francis Cutler.

Arriving in San Bernardino at 9:30 a. m., the delegates will leave immediately for the Devil canyon nursery site. They will have lunch, conduct a short business session and spend the rest of the afternoon in an inspection of the experiment station.

More than 50,000 seedling trees of a dozen varieties have been planted there since the experiment station was established a few months ago. Considerable areas have been devoted to the propagation of pine tree seeds by C. J. Kraebie, director of the station. Next year some of these trees

Commodore of Hollywood Aero Club to Reveal Plans for Carnival

Members of the Junior Chamber of Commerce will have their first opportunity of tasting the new lima bean bread at their meeting tonight in Ketner's cafe. If the bread proves popular, President Bob Fernandez said, it may mean a new industry for Orange county, inasmuch as this section shares with Ventura county the principal honors in the production of lima beans.

Mrs. Minnie Ketner has arranged a menu featuring the new flour in several forms, it was said.

The main address of the evening is to be delivered by Capt. Roger K. Adams, commodore of the Hollywood Aero club, co-operating with the Santa Ana Chamber of Commerce and the Santa Ana Air club in arrangements for the international air peace jubilee to be held in Santa Ana July 2 to 9. Captain Adams will relate for the first time publicly some of the important events scheduled for the week.

The entertainment program, in charge of Cecil Featherly, will feature Arthur Derby, banjo and guitar virtuoso and several other entertainers. The dinner meeting begins at 6:30 o'clock.

ANAHEIM RESTUARANTS AND HOTELS READY FOR HORDE OF ORANGE SHOW VISITORS

ANAHEIM, May 9.—In spite of the fact that more than a week will elapse before the gates are opened admitting visitors to the seventh annual California Valencia Orange show, to be held here, May 19-28, already tourists and residents of California are flocking to Anaheim to visit the "Big Top," where Orange county's queen of crops, the Valencia orange, will be displayed in regal splendor. Restaurants located through the city report a large increase of business during the past week and already the hotels are receiving scores of requests for reservations during the ten days of the show.

HOOVER ISSUES HELP PLEA TO CHEST WORKERS

Reasons for issuing a special appeal for contributions to the Mississippi Valley Flood Relief Fund in communities where annual Red Cross quotas have already been collected or subscribed through the community chest, are set forth in a telegram received today at the Community Chest headquarters, 811 North Sycamore street, from Secretary Herbert Hoover of the Department of Commerce, in charge of the relief activities, transmitted through the national Red Cross headquarters.

The wire, addressed to Roland E. Dye, secretary of the Community Chest for Santa Ana and Tustin, follows:

"The Mississippi Valley Relief Fund campaign seems to be dragging in many community chest cities. There is a misunderstanding in some chest cities as to whether a special appeal of this nature is proper. I believe a national crisis of this character, backed by the president's appeal for $10,000,000, should take precedence over any and all community chest agreements. I strongly urge you to communicate with all chest cities, urging a vigorous campaign for flood relief and for the widest possible co-operation by the chest boards with local Red Cross chapters. I believe it will seriously injure the chest movement in this country if the chest cities fail to respond adequately in this great disaster."

Commenting upon the message, William H. Spurgeon, Jr. president of the Community Chest of Santa Ana and Tustin, said that no question has been raised here as to the propriety of raising additional funds for the Red Cross to meet this unexpected national emergency. On the contrary, he said there seemed to have been a general desire on the part of the greater number of citizens to respond to the call for aid of their fellow citizens in the stricken flood area.

QUAINT COSTUMES WILL BE WORN IN COMMUNITY PLAY

As an example of the quaint old-time costumes featured in "Smilin' Thru," Santa Ana Community Play to be given in the Temple theater four nights next week, starting Tuesday, the director, George Gerwing, and a member of the Players' association, Miss Dorothy Mayhew, posed for their pictures, wearing the pretty costumes. Tickets for "Smilin' Thru" were today placed on sale at the Santa Ana bookstore.

Choice of All Seats for All Performances Offered Play Supporters

Sustaining members having secured their reserved seats for this week's performance of "Smilin' Thru," final Santa Ana Community play of the season, are choice of seats for any one of the four performances, beginning Tuesday night. Tickets are on sale as usual, at the Santa Ana book store.

Those who have dropped in at the Temple theater to see one of the nightly rehearsals of "Smilin' Thru," are enthusiastic over the play and the manner in which it is being presented by the cast led by George Gerwing, director. The play presents many difficulties for an amateur cast, but these seem to have been surmounted although two dress rehearsals are scheduled in order to familiarize the players with their quick changes.

There is one scene in particular when Valmer Clark, who plays the role of "John Carter" in both his youth and his age, has to encompass the change from age to youth in two minutes' time, and "John Carter" is on the stage in full view of the audience every second of the time! That is merely one of the difficulties facing the cast and the director.

"Enter Madame," "The Whole Town's Talking" and "You and I" have formed the Community Players' winter program, which will close with "Smilin' Thru." In the cast will be George Gerwing, director; Harriet Owens Enderle, Miss Elaine Wharton, Miss Elizabeth Archer, Valmer Clark, Warren Fletcher, Charles Haas and a group of "supers" who will have no lines, the Misses Mildred Whitson, Helen McPeak and Mabel Pruitt, Messrs. Emil Foust, Harold Fish and Leslie Steffanson.

Incidental music will be given by Cecil Fross Willits, contralto, Helen McPeak, violinist, Ruth Oakes, harpist, and others.

Mining Bonanzas Will Fade With Warmer Weather

LOS ANGELES, May 9.—With the advent of hot weather the annual crop of southwestern mining bonanzas will fade like the spring desert flowers and wither beneath torrid skies until the chill of autumn again stirs the impulses of the who frequent "the great open spaces."

Weepah, Nev., first beckoned the adventurous and for a few weeks stories of incalculable wealth provided a magnet that rivalled the halcyon days when men "shot first and talked afterward." News dispatches ballyhooed Weepah into a second Gripple Creek, then within a desert sandstorms that blew down prospectors' tents, the camp began to pass into the limbo of other "ghost cities."

Dripping Springs, Ariz., next held the spotlight for an interval, while zealous promoters increased the revenues of service stations which quenched the gasoline thirsts of prospectors' cars. This camp was short-lived and a little more than a week Dripping Springs became what is known in mining parlance as a "duster."

Riverside county made a 48-hour bid for glory when advance reports of "pay dirt" failed. Yuma county, Ariz., is the latest to lure the wealth seeker with tales of golden ore near old shafts.

There, however, sun-baked trails and almost inaccessible mountains halt all except the most venturesome and the actuality of the late Dick Wick Hall, when he said: "Salome, where she danced," brings of the sector to a clear realization.

TROJANS, L. A. A. C. PREP FOR BIG MEET

LOS ANGELES, May 9.—The University of Southern California Trojans and Los Angeles Athletic club mercuries are hitting their stride today in preparation for Saturday's dual meet between the teams.

The feature of the day probably will center in the sprints with Charley Borah of the Trojans favored to lead Murray Schultz, former Caltech ace, to the tape by a slight margin.

Dopesters predict that U. S. C. should annex first honors in the 100, 220, 440, 880, pole vault, high jump, broad jump, relay and possibly the shot, leaving the mercuries an edge in the mile, two-mile, both hurdles, discus and javelin.

Los Angeles Man Had Not Attended Annual Outings Of Old Santa Ana Unit

Twenty-six of the 103 Orange county men mustered out of service as members of Co. L, on December 2, 1919, following the Spanish war, yesterday renewed their friendships at the annual meeting of the old veterans held at the Orange county park.

W. L. McDivitt, of Los Angeles, greeted his comrades here for the first time since they said good bye, following their release from service. Others present had attended some of the annual meetings of the old group.

When the company left here on the morning of May 5, 1919, it had 83 men and officers, and additions made later raised the roster to 193 men and officers. Col. E. H. Finley was captain and W. A. Greenleaf and L. L. Vestal were first and second lieutenants, respectively. All of the officers are living in Santa Ana today.

The men were accompanied to the park yesterday by their families and an enjoyable day was passed in the renewing of acquaintances and in recounting incidents of the period in which the local company was held in San Francisco for service overseas when needed. The company did not get into active service. Dinner was provided for the group by the committee in charge.

Members of the old company present were Col. S. H. Finley, C. W. McNaught, G. P. Campbell, E. D. Adams, D. D. Field, M. C. Cooper, E. E. Johnson, W. A. Greenleaf, Oscar S. Kurtz, C. E. Waffie, J. H. 12 GALLONS LIQUOR CAPTURED IN RAID

Receiving a tip that Mr. Volstead's pet law was being violated at 1027 Logan street, yesterday, Officers Adams and Dean raided the home of Jose Saldina, 51, and confiscated 12 gallons of alleged "moonshine" liquor.

The "hoosh" was found in a secret room constructed in Saldina's attic, officers said.

The liquor was brought to the police station and Saldina was taken to the county jail, where he is being held on a charge of possession of intoxicating liquor. He probably will be taken before Judge J. F. Talbot, today.

Clara Bow and Einar Hanson in a scene from "Children of Divorce," current attraction at the Yost Broadway theater.

Gay Seabrook, who will be seen at the Temple theater here Sunday when the Menard Players open in "White Collars," noted stage success.

YOST BROADWAY THEATER

Director Frank Lloyd has made another remarkable picture with the inspired assistance of Clara Bow, Esther Ralston, Gary Cooper, Einar Hanson and Norman Trevor.

"Children of Divorce," now playing at the Yost Broadway theater, tears a new slash in the veil covering the evils of modern divorce and pictures in bold colors life in the youthful ranks of the wealthy social class.

The cast headed by Clara Bow and Esther Ralston, both of whom are starred, and Einar Hanson and handsome young Gary Cooper, give wonderfully fine consistent performances. Too much cannot be said in praise of Miss Bow as the girl who forces marriage on the man of her choice (Cooper) in spite of his love for Esther Ralston.

Miss Ralston, in turn, as lovely, dignified Jean Waddington, suffers her disappointment contagiously as she found ready sympathy flowing from the audience that saw the picture on its opening night here.

Miss Bow, Miss Ralston and Mr. Cooper in their big scene where Joan learns that Kitty and Ted have been married during a night of revelry, rise to the histrionic heights as actresses and actor. Theirs were parts that might well have been given more experienced players, but their youth stood them in good stead and even added to the appeal of the characterizations.

MENARD PLAYERS... "Spoken drama at motion picture prices," is to be the slogan of the Menard Players, who will open in Santa Ana next Sunday night, at the Temple theater, with a special production of "White Collars," from the pen of Ann Nichols, who wrote "Abie's Irish Rose."

Santa Ana theatergoers will be given their first glimpse of pretty Gay Seabrook, who plays the part of the gum-chewing flapper stenographer.

Two performances of the play will be given every evening, at 7 and 9 o'clock, beginning Sunday. The theater has been redecorated and a more comfortable seating arrangement installed.

"White Collars," which enjoyed a run of eight months at the Cort and Sam H. Harris theaters in New York, is one of the funniest comedies of the past decade, and has received praise from the critics wherever it has played.

The story tells of the wedding of a millionaire with his secretary; the bride insists that the husband, who is the son of one of New York's oldest families, shall reside at her home and become a member of her family, which consists of a hard working father doomed to be a bookkeeper all his life; a sweet, kindly mother who has struggled to make both ends meet; a brother, a clerk; the flapper sister, played by Miss Seabrook, a stenographer; and Cousin Henry, an embryo socialist who never holds a job more than 30 days, and who has appointed himself emancipator of the White Collar class.

The comedy centers around the attempt on the part of Cousin Henry to "democratize" the millionaire.

Pauline Starke, who plays in "Captain Salvation," current attraction at the West Coast-Walker theater.

WEST COAST-WALKER

Lars Hanson on the screen and the Honorable Wu on the stage!

That is the delightful fare for theatergoers at the West Coast-Walker and that they appreciate the combination has been shown by the long lines at the ticket window for each performance to date. "Captain Salvation," the film attraction, bids fair to be one of the outstanding films of the year. It is an interesting story—that of the first "gospel ship"—and in it is incorporated all the romance of those who "go down to the sea in ships."

Lars Hanson plays the young divinity student, in a little New England seaport, who forsakes his God for the sea—only to find true belief there. His admirers—and their name is legion—will be completely satisfied with his characterization in which simplicity and spirituality are pronounced.

And the Honorable Wu, in the Chinese idea of Fanchon and Marco, is as magnificent and an appealing review. The magnificence is apparent from the first flicker of the curtain on its upward rise. It is visible in the Chinese embroideries of the drapes, in the gold-encrusted Mandarin robes worn, in the idols and clouds of incense.

The scenes are like the turning of a kaleidoscope—one brilliant picture after another. And whether the accident be orientalized or vice versa, the result is always interesting. Occidental songs and occidental dance, with oriental features and costumes, are bizarre yet fascinating, and the Honorable Wu, himself, is a strange combination of grace and appeal.

The dances which he and one of his lovely lotus blossoms present are exquisite in rhythm and grace, and even the contortious of modern jazz and the negroid character of the cake-walk, are imbued with strangely exotic grace.

Those fun-makers, Al Cooke and Kit Guard, appear in the comedy, presenting the first of H. C. Witwer's series, "Wisecrackers."

Strelinger Acts Against Foul

LOS ANGELES, May 9.—Chairman Seth Strelinger of the boxing commission is taking a hand in stopping excess decisions on a foul, it was evidenced here today.

He has ordered Herman Auerbach and Billy Clark to settle the contested point Friday night at Hollywood stadium.

The other night in the same arena Clark's claim of a low blow won him the referee's verdict in the first round.

Examination of the battle by the club physician revealed no evidence of a foul, which prompted the commissioner's ultimatum.

12 GATHERINGS ON SCALY BARK CURES ARE SET

Twelve field demonstrations, featuring the proper methods of scaly bark control on orange trees, will be held by the Agricultural Extension service this week and next, according to announcement issued by H. E. Wahlberg, Orange county farm advisor.

He called to the attention of citrus growers in all parts of the county, that the spring months are the best months for treating this bark disease of the orange, while the tree is in active sap condition and the scaling processes take place more readily.

A new feature of the demonstrations this year is the work by community project leaders who will assist the farm advisor in conducting the details of the field demonstration.

The following schedule of demonstrations has been arranged:
Tuesday, May 10, 10 a. m., La Habra, place of John Knudson, Central avenue, corner of Walnut street; 2 p. m., Garden Grove, place of J. W. Crill, South Palm avenue, one-fourth mile north of Chapman avenue.

Wednesday, May 11, 10 a. m., Anaheim, place of N. J. Stehly, Brookhurst road, one-fourth mile south of Ball road; 10 a. m., West Orange, place of Fred Schluter, West LaVeta avenue, corner of Flower street; 2 p. m., Tustin, Mabury ranch, corner Fruit street and McLeary street, one mile east of Santa Ana.

Thursday, May 12, 10 a. m., Villa Park, place of Henry Lockett, Santiago boulevard, half way between Olive and Villa Park; 10 a. m., Orange, place of J. M. Brubaker, Prospect avenue, one-fourth mile north of Chapman.

Other demonstrations will be announced later for Placentia, Yorba Linda, San Juan Capistrano and Cypress.

The project leaders who will assist in these demonstrations are: John Knudson, La Habra; John W. Crill, Garden Grove; N. J. Stehly, Anaheim; P. H. Krick, Orange; Henry Lockett, Villa Park; E. E. Campbell, El Modena; B. J. McReynolds, Tustin; Ed Lang, Placentia; Carl Hankey, San Juan Capistrano, Yorba Linda and Cypress.

press leaders have not been appointed yet. All citrus growers are invited to attend these demonstrations.

SALONICA NOW BECOMING BIG WORLD MARKET

SALONICA, Greece, May 9.—While Constantinople's former glory and commercial supremacy are fading, Salonica, on the shores of the Aegean sea, has become the Levant's greatest market and social center.

The creation of Salonica as a free port has given impetus to the city's growth and has made it one of the most important seaports in South-western Europe. From a war-ridden, famine-swept town in 1917, it has grown into a modern city of the first rank. Within the last two years a building boom of American proportions has converted the former backward Oriental city, where the Apostle Paul preached, into a city of big commercial enterprises, fine homes, theaters, libraries and recreation centers.

Open to Commerce.—Recognizing the economic advantage of Salonica as a means of feeding not only Greece, but Yugoslavia, Macedonia, Bulgaria and Albania with the products of the world, the Greek government set up a zone commission to administer the port, which is now open to the commerce of all nations.

Jugo-Slavia, which heretofore has been shut off from all access to the Aegean and Mediterranean seas, will benefit most by the change. But countries as far away as Poland, Austria and Czechoslovakia, that have no outlet on the sea, will also derive advantages.

Salonica, which was founded 215 years before Christ, has one of the finest harbors in the world. The city is the terminus of five railways, which traverse the greater part of Europe.

Population Nearly Doubles.—Within the last five years the population has grown from 140,000 to 260,000, a large percentage being descendants of Spanish Jews who fled from Spain and Portugal in the reign of Ferdinand and Isabella to escape persecution. The ruins of the great fire in 1917, entailing $250,000,000 damage, have been replaced with hundreds of modern buildings.

Every race of the world is represented. Every tongue is spoken. Every costume is seen. There are Jewish, Greek, German, Spanish, British and American schools. Each religious community has its own educational institutions and places of worship. The American Agricultural school has for years supplied Greece and Macedonia with thousands of farmers trained in American methods of agriculture.

Thieves Steal Church's Bell

MOSCOW, May 9.—Thieves in the night removed a 600-pound bronze bell from the belfry of a small church in the outskirts of Moscow. The purpose of the unusual theft is not known. How the thieves managed to remove the big bell without being detected is a mystery, as there are almost always people on the street of Moscow at all hours of the night.

ORANGE COUNTY BANKERS NAMED GROUP LEADERS

Two Orange county bankers, H. H. Benjamin, of Anaheim, and R. H. Biggs, of Fullerton, were honored at the semi-annual conference of group four of the California Bankers' association at Riverside Saturday. Benjamin was elected president and Biggs secretary of the group.

Approximately 3000 banks from all sections of Riverside, San Bernardino, San Diego, Imperial and Orange counties were in attendance at the sessions.

Reports of conditions throughout the Southland were given by delegates, with Benjamin reporting for Orange county.

Avoidance of the cold and repellent marble and bars in modern banking buildings was urged by Thomas Bank, of Los Angeles, in an address at the afternoon session.

Officers named in addition to Benjamin and Biggs were C. W. Wilson, San Diego, vice president; G. A. Marsh, Victorville, treasurer; O. G. Horne, El Centro; G. P. Gough, Elsinore; Russell Eason, San Diego, and Dr. M. J. Sweeney, San Bernardino, members of the executive committee.

BREA

BREA, May 9.—Albert Ward, chairman of the music committee of the American Legion post, announces the purchase of a new piano for the hall, the instrument having been installed this week. This is a decided advantage to the musicians connected with the post as it will give them an opportunity to practice more often. Beside the piano the lineup of instruments now being used in the new Legion orchestra is a violin, four saxophones, a tenor banjo, mandolin, drums, concertina, cornet and clarinet.

Brea friends of Miss Araminta Sents and J. G. Crooke were surprised this week to learn of their marriage. Mrs. Crooke has been a teacher in the Brea grammar school for the past several years and Mr. Crooke is associated with the Brea Boiler works here and also identified as Scoutmaster of the Brea Boy Scouts. According to report, the couple were married in Riverside during the enforced vacation given pupils and teachers in February because of the rainy season. The bride plans on finishing the present term of school and meantime is making her home with Mr. and Mrs. John Pfeiffer. At the close of the term Mr. and Mrs. Crooke will take a home in Brea.

Joe Charman, of the Hubbard Hardware company, has been confined to his home at South Gate Park for the past 10 days with a severe case of measles. He expects to be on duty about the middle of the week.

A nine-pound daughter was born on Wednesday to Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Eubank, of Santa Fe Springs, at the home of Mrs. W. G. Snavely, of Brea. The father is a brother of Roy Eubanks, well known resident of Brea.

Mr. and Mrs. B. G. Wilkinson are mourning the loss of their infant daughter, Pauline Clara, who passed away Thursday at the Fullerton General hospital. The baby was buried in Loma Vista Friday afternoon, the Rev. S. F. Hilgenfeld being in charge of the services.

Mrs. C. C. Jarvis spent the week end in Victorville with her son, Bert Pfeiffer, who is convalescing there after a prolonged illness. Upon her return from Victorville, Mrs. Jarvis will visit for several days with friends in Riverside before departing on May 15 for Santa Cruz, where she is a delegate from the local Pythian Sister lodge to the annual state convention.

One of the very finest programs to be enjoyed by the local Lions club was had at the weekly luncheon in Boy Scout cabin Friday. The program was in charge of Ed. P. Eason, editor of the Brea Progress, who had secured for the speaker Dr. Walker, of the First Presbyterian church, of Anaheim. In addition to the address, Mrs. Eason presented Mrs. Clara Liedke, of Fullerton, in two humorous readings that were well received. Visitors to the luncheon were Dr. Rawlin, of Anaheim, and Mike Hogue, now of Placentia, but formerly a resident of Brea, where he still retains club and lodge affiliation.

Eddie Brainer, bookkeeper for the Duro Engineering company, was last week admitted to membership in the local American Legion post, making the membership up to the required 60, the quota set by the state department, and makes the Brea post secure as one of the live and active ones of the state.

Twenty Brea matrons attended the bridge and "500" benefit card party given in the Masonic temple at Fullerton Friday afternoon by Ami Tai circle. They were Mesdames Minnie Pfeiffer, Beatrice Livingston, Tamar Reed, Jessie Whitmer, May Saunders, Ethel Twining, Florence Davis, Anna Woodward, Eva Jarvis, Alice Linnes, Martha Remp, Ethel Crowhurst, Maude Will, Nettie Negley, Madeline Cone, Edna Critchlow, McCrea, W. H. Williams, Smith and George Marshall. Ten tables of cards were played. Mrs. Pfeiffer receiving first prize in "500."

Frank Mason, commander of the Brea post of the American Legion, has been accepted as a member of the Toastmasters' club, an organization having for its purpose the practical experience in public speaking. The club is limited to 30 members and holds meetings of an hour and a half duration each Monday night at the Mission Inn in Fullerton. Dinner is served and each member is called upon to give a short speech which is criticized by the others present.

On the eve of her departure for Sacramento, where she was going as a delegate from Trinity Rebekah lodge to the annual assembly there, Mrs. Minnie Epla has been detained at home because of the illness of her daughter, Mildred, who is confined to the house with measles. Mr. Epla, who represents Brea lodge No. 483, I. O. O. F., will be present at the meeting of grand lodge in Sacramento and Mrs. Mary Morefield will now be sole representative of the Rebekah lodge of Brea.

Mr. and Mrs. Allen Marks, who were married here on April 30, at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Bowie, have returned to Brea from a short honeymoon spent at a beach resort. For the present they will make their home with Mrs. Marks' parents. Mr. Marks is employed in the oil fields near Brea.

Craig's hall is to be the scene of dancing, cards, refreshments and a social good time next Wednesday evening, when the "Forty and Eighters" will meet there with their wives, sisters and sweethearts, the occasion being the semi-annual "ladies' night" of that organization. A committee composed of Mrs. Ruth Craig, Mrs. Nadine Mason and Mrs. Ella Stumbo will arrange for cards and refreshments and music will be furnished by the California Valentines. About 50 couples are expected to be present from various parts of the county.

Five honor roll students of the Brea-Olinda union high school, who have stood highest on the list or have tied for first place in the respective quarters of the past two years are Evelyn Hilgenfeld, Ruth Livingston, Mildred Montgomery, Nondys Smith and James Zerbe. Miss Hilgenfeld has the distinction of taking these honors five times and the others once each.

The regular monthly meeting of the Christian church ladies' missionary society will be held at the C. R. Merrifield home on South Pomona street next Wednesday. Pot-luck luncheon will be served at noon and the afternoon devoted to work and discussions pertaining to their mission.

The SAFE Way to Save on Your Gasoline!

Buy your gasoline from your independent dealer—you'll always get a lot of service FREE!

Is it better to buy gasoline for your car as you need it or to run the risk of storage in your garage? Think it over motorists. And since there is an ordinance prohibiting the storage of more than 25 gallons of gasoline in an ordinary container, is it worth the bother of doing it yourself? Tests (by one of the big oil companies) show, also, that gasoline evaporates 10 per cent in thirty days . . . another loss. Then again . . . is it worth the risk of invalidating the fire insurance on your property?

The safe and sane way to buy gasoline for your car is to drive into the service station operated by your independent dealer. For after the tank is filled his service to you has just begun.

Windshield dirty? He'll clean it. Tire pressure too low? He'll inflate them gladly. Need any water? He'll fill the radiator. Battery dry? He'll test and fill it.

There is one thing he will NOT do. He will NOT charge you for this. He'll not ask one penny for the time nor for the money tied up in equipment necessary to perform these services for you. In fact, have you ever asked for a reasonable service in an independent station you did not get cheerfully? Answer it yourself . . . and be safe!

Passenger Car Tires

made by Samson, have built into them the strongest tire "bead" known.

There is one, in Samson Tires, that will lift—and suspend off the ground—a 5-ton truck without damage to the bead.

YOU HAVE heard about the "stage-line wear" and durability in these famous tires. Now try them on your car.

See what Samson learned in building tires for Western motor stages.

These great cars—piled with baggage overhanging the rear wheels, carrying twenty passengers or more, sustaining speeds of 35 to 40 miles an hour for almost unbelievable distances, twisting 'round sharp turns on mountain tops and down steep grades on concrete, gravel, sandy, rutty roads—give tires the world's hardest tests.

Tires that stand them will outwear all others in any kind of usage.

Your tires, if they resist these strains and stresses, will run thousands of extra miles.

That is Samson's feature. This tire, built of new, live rubber and finest of cords, is the easiest riding tire known, and has the famous "double non-skidability."

Yet its construction—specifications are of the stage-line type—to make mileage records that will surprise nine tire users out of ten.

Samson continually makes this claim, and backs it with a tire to "make good."

Why not make it "make good" on your car?

Let us show it to you. It's a stylish, tailored-to-your-car tire, too.

FEDERAL COURT, TWO STATE ATHLETIC COMMISSIONS TO DECIDE RICKARD'S STATUS

By HENRY L. FARRELL

(United Press Staff Correspondent)

NEW YORK, May 9.—A federal court and two state athletic commissions probably will decide this week what Tex Rickard's status will be this summer as an outdoor boxing promoter. Jack Dempsey's return to the squared arena is involved in one of the controversies.

Of most immediate concern to Rickard is the outcome of the injunction suit brought against him by Walter Taylor, Cleveland promoter, to prevent the Jim Maloney-Jack Sharkey battle set for May 19 at the Yankee stadium.

Taylor says he has a prior claim on Maloney for a bout with Johnny Risko. The suit was argued before Federal Judge Henry W. Goddard in court here last week and the judge promised an early decision, which probably will be this week.

The boxing boards of both New York and Massachusetts have heard Paolino from fighting in those states until he explains, if he can, why he hasn't lived up to a contract Eddie Mack, of Boston, says he signed with him for a fight with Ed Keeley.

Paolino's manager, Al Mayer, was to appear before the bay state boxing commission today to try to give a satisfactory explanation. Rickard has already announced that Dempsey's first opponent in his comeback will be Paolino, and at an early date, so unless the New York and the Massachusetts boxing commissions decide with Paolino, Rickard may have to get Dempsey another partner or postpone the first of the Dempsey specials until after the Spaniard has satisfied the Boston promoter.

COLLEGE SQUAD PREPARES FOR COURT TOURNEY

Hopeful of again winning the Southern California junior college championship, tennis players of the Santa Ana Junior college this week will battle for team positions to settle how they will play in the conference tournament at Chaffey junior college, Ontario, next Saturday.

The girls will play for positions in a round robin series of matches, but the boys who will compete have been selected, Coach Graham Harris said.

Upon Miss Thelma Patton, former Southern California high school singles champion, rests most of the Santa Ana's chance for the title. Miss Patton is virtually conceded the girls' first singles position, and there isn't another co-ed star in the conference who can rank with her.

The round robin will be participated in by the four girls, Misses Ruth Davis, Thelma Patton, Muriel Smith and Elaine Smith.

Among the boys, Emil Foulet is rated the highest, entitling him to play the first singles position. Dick Ewert will play second singles and Jack Warner third singles, in all probability, it was disclosed by Harris. If Foulet plays with Miss Patton in the mixed doubles battles, Ewert and Warner will be teamed for the men's doubles.

The cup awarded to the conference champions was won by Santa Ana last year in the league tournament held at Fullerton. Both Miss Patton and Emil Foulet competed in that net frame. The Santa Ana squad is regarded to be even stronger, especially in the men's division, than last year's championship aggregation.

BY BILLY EVANS

THE FIRST HIT OF THE GAME CAME IN THE SIXTH INNING: IT WAS JOHNNY'S HOMER WITH THREE MEN ON THE SACKS

Johnny Tobin of the Boston Red Sox, a mighty smart batsman, has never gone in strongly for home runs during his big league career. John has won more fame laying down bunts and bunting them out, or dragging one past the pitcher to reach first in safety. In other words, he gets more brain hits than through brute strength.

However, in a recent game at Boston with Washington, Tobin made one of his rather unusual home runs and it proved to be a decidedly rare one from several angles.

For five innings George Murray of Washington had held Boston hitless. In the sixth inning, an error and two bases on balls, filled the bases. Then along came Tobin with the first hit of the game, a home run, that just carried into the right field bleachers.

It is the only instance I can recall where the first hit of the game was a home run and it resulted in four tallies crossing the plate. Tobin's super feat was wasted, however, as those four runs were the total Red Sox effort, while Washington made seven.

Defeated teams often accuse Major Cavanaugh's pupils of playing rough football. That is not true. I have seen teams coached by him play many games. They have played what is known as hard football, but always clean.

FORERUNNER OF RUGBY
It is the belief of Major Cavanaugh that the lateral pass is but a forerunner of an attempt to supplant intercollegiate football as now played with rugby.

The lateral pass is a much used play in rugby. In certain quarters a strong attempt will be made to popularize the play, since there is no particular danger attached to its use.

Major Cavanaugh tells me that he knows there is a concerted effort on foot to introduce certain elements of the rugby game into our football by a change here and there in the rules. The hope is, that eventually so many of the rugby fundamentals will have been introduced that the two will be very much similar if not the same.

As a matter of fact, a well-known London sports magazine recently published a serious article, predicting just such a change as Major Cavanaugh insists on in football. While I like the English game

BILLY EVANS

FROWNS ON LATERAL PASS
Major Frank Cavanaugh, often referred to as football's greatest one-man coach, doesn't like some of the recent changes made by the rules committee, particularly the one having to do with the lateral pass.

Few coaches in football boast the colorful career that has been Major Cavanaugh's portion. A star as a player at Dartmouth, it was he who first put the Hanover institution on the map in the role of coach.

After a highly successful career at Dartmouth, extending over something like 10 years, he resigned to take over football at the then unknown Boston college.

It has always been Cavanaugh's fate as a coach to be a builder. First it was at Dartmouth, then at Boston college, and now he is to take over the reins at Fordham.

It was while at Boston college that Cavanaugh, then football coach at an institution that was little more than a day school, twice defeated great Yale teams in successive years.

Defeated teams often accuse Major Cavanaugh's pupils of playing rough football. That is not true. I have seen teams coached by him play many games. They have played what is known as hard football, but always clean.

FORERUNNER OF RUGBY
It is the belief of Major Cavanaugh that the lateral pass is but a forerunner of an attempt to supplant intercollegiate football as now played with rugby.

The lateral pass is a much used play in rugby. In certain quarters a strong attempt will be made to popularize the play, since there is no particular danger attached to its use.

C. I. F. DENIES APPLICATION OF SANTA ANA FOR RIGHT TO SEND TRACK ACES TO CHICAGO

In anything but a receptive mood, the California Interscholastic federation unanimously denied the applications of Santa Ana and Glendale high schools for permission to send the stars of their track teams to the National Interscholastic meet at Chicago, June 3-4, when it met for its semi-annual business session at Modesto Saturday.

Coach "Tex" Oliver wanted to raise a fund here to send east all the men who placed in the state meet and Coach Normal Hayhurst of the championship Glendale outfit intended to ship his entire squad to the Stagg field classic, virtually sure of a national title, but the C. I. F. frowned on the propositions and gave it little more than cursory attention.

Santa Ana and Glendale could have brought nationwide publicity to Southern California as their athletes are capable of placing high in any meet anywhere. Wykoff, Slocum and Falter would be a cinch to win at Chicago and Breeding, Bear and the Poly relay quartette would be dangerous contenders for places in their events.

The high school scorekeepers who were in charge of this, the biggest meet of its kind in the state, got "busted up" by the magnitude of their task, and broadcast erroneous scores at the conclusion of the meet and these were printed in all metropolitan papers.

The mistakes didn't injure Santa Ana as the kid scorers had "Tex" Oliver's men placing third.

Jim Reinhart, C. I. F. chief, told The Register today that the authentic scores of the leading teams were: Glendale

PASADENA WINS FROM DONS IN BASEBALL, 5-3

Pirate collegians of Pasadena, victors over Santa Ana junior college athletic teams in football, basketball and track, notched their bloody knives again today in celebration of their fourth triumph, this time in baseball, the fourth major sport, over which the two college nines clashed Saturday morning at Pasadena with the result scoring 5 to 3 for the Pirates.

Santa Ana led in the scoring up to the fourth inning, three runs, scored in the second inning, putting the Don nine ahead.

The standing was changed, however, as the Pasadena team dribbled in scattering runs in the late rounds. Two bad breaks, when a questionable balk was called on Chaffee, Santa Ana hurler, and a miscue was committed by the infield, in the critical fourth inning, started the downfall of the Santa Anas.

"Mike" Chaffee, college moundman, turned in one of his best games of the season, striking out nine batters while Kasten, the Pasadena pitcher, whiffed but one.

Two conference games remain for Santa Ana, according to Coach Graham Harris. Fullerton will be met here this week and Chaffey will be played at Ontario in the final game of the 1927 schedule next week.

BREEDING, RELAY SQUAD BOTH SECOND; BEAR AND VELARDE FINISH FOURTH

By virtue of second places from Harold Breeding, the imperturbable miler, and the school's great relay squad of Captain Harvey Bear, Terry Stephenson, Jack Blakeney and Clarence Fairchild, and fourth place points from Captain Bear in the 220 and Ernie Velarde in the broad jump, Santa Ana high school terminated the most successful season in track and field athletics by tying for fourth place with Chaffey in the California State Interscholastic meet at Modesto Saturday.

As was expected, Glendale made a show of its opposition, running up a grand total of 30 points, to take first place from a field of 85 schools and 130 athletes.

Pasadena, duplicating to the point its scoring in the Southern California meet in which it tied Santa Ana, was second with 15. San Diego finished third with 9. The remainder of the schools were spread out behind Santa Ana and Chaffey, exactly 36 schools scoring.

Two Records Broken

Two state meet records were broken and another equaled. A stiff wind was at the backs of the runners but there was no announcement to the effect that the marks would not be allowed. Frank Wykoff, the sterling Glendale boy, who won three first places, enough to take the meet single-handed, equaled the 100-yard dash mark of 9.4-5 seconds and ran the 220 in 21 seconds for a new record.

"Jeddy" Welsh, Pasadena, cracked the old state record in the high hurdles, ambling over the barriers in 14.4-5 seconds.

The same game, one that late in the afternoon blew up a brief but disconcerting rainstorm, handicapped the distance runners and made record-breaking out of the question. The 440, 880, mile and relay men scooted along with the breeze on the straightaway but had to buck along into its teeth on the back stretch.

Breeding, defeated by a yard in 4 minutes, 33.5 seconds, fought Halstead, the phenomenal Sacramento boy, to the last inch before he was satisfied with second in the most grueling race of the day. From the outset it was a duel between these two remarkable pre-leather-lungs and the time undoubtedly would have been between 4:25 and 4:27 under more acceptable running conditions.

Halstead Leads Throughout
Halstead beat Breeding to the pole and was never headed. He pulled into a 10-yard lead in the second lap but Breeding cut this to five yards during their third turn around the circuit. They sprinted almost the entire last lap and Breeding proved the stronger of the two in the final analysis, picking up four yards but never quite making up the early lead his opponent built up.

Wymore, an unknown from Porterville, came up from nowhere during the last 220 and as they pounded around the turn with Breeding and Halstead almost abreast, Wymore looked like a certain winner, but in the stretch he suddenly "exploded" and just saved the day.

White, of Fontana, who was supposed to be dangerous, and Hoyer of Chaffey, who was second to Breeding in the All-Southern, were never contenders.

Captain Bear got off to one of his typical atrocious starts in the 220 and had to finish with a rush to place fourth. In the parlance of the turf, he was left at the post. Last off his marks, the Poly captain found himself still running dead last in a field of eight at the 100-yard mark. He finished fast but was never able to pick up much on Wykoff, Hables and Slocum, who finished in that order.

Bear Shines in Relay
Bear, however, made up for this misfortune by making the most impressive run of his brilliant career in the anchor lap of the relay. Fairchild had Poly fourth at the close of the opening lap in this wild race in which 11 schools battled on a seven-lane track. Blakeney cruised past Santa Mateo during the second lap, leaving the locals third in back of Glendale and Pasadena, and Stephenson picked up a yard on both these schools but the fleet Bear was away 10 yards behind Slocum of Glendale and 8 to the rear of Welch of Pasadena as they "dug in" for the last frame.

Bear must like these curve-tracks for he looked like the champion sprinter of the world in disposing of Welch. He caught the Pasadena hurdler-sprinter after traveling 200 yards and beat him two yards to put "Tex" Oliver's quartette home second. Slocum was only five yards ahead of the flying Santa Ana at the end so it is almost inconceivable that the Glendale anchor-man should have thrashed him in the furlong so decisively.

Velarde Takes Fourth
Velarde did his usual consistent broad-jumping, getting away two leaps over the 21-foot mark but the north's threat, mentioned in the Register Saturday, actually developed in this event and the diminutive Santa Ana was forced back to fourth behind Wykoff, Kennedy of Fresno and Erickson of Oakdale. Wykoff only won the

HE'S SATISFIED

"Without regrets and entirely satisfied with the showing of his charges who tied for second in the Southern California meet and for fourth in the State meet, Coach 'Tex' Oliver today declared the Santa Ana high school track season officially closed. No local team will be sent to the National Interscholastic. Although many of the Poly crew will take part in the Orange County A. A. U. meet they will do so as individuals.

RUSSIAN TELLS SOVIET'S CASE AT CONFERENCE

GENEVA, May 9.—In a speech which marked the definite re-entry of Russia into world affairs, Gregor Sokolnikoff presented the case of the Soviet regime to the international economic conference.

For the first time during the conference, the hall was packed and delegates left their seats and crowded around the speaker's stand to hear every word.

"It is universally recognized that all efforts in recent years toward world wide economic reconstruction center about the Russian problem," Sokolnikoff said.

"Although the statesmen at the Geneva and Hague conferences predicted ruin would follow the Russian socialist system, no such thing has happened. The miseries and difficulties which Russia has suffered are due not to the system of government, but to the destruction and devastation wrought by the war."

The economic conference will be a success, Sokolnikoff said, if it results in fuller comprehension of Russian problems and a basis for co-operation between "our different economic systems."

With Sokolnikoff's speech, Soviet Russia was believed by many of the conference definitely to have cast her lot with western Europe after hesitating for years before choosing between the Orient and the Occident.

BURGLARS UNABLE TO OPEN UP SAFE

Burglars were unsuccessful in an attempt made Saturday night to force open the safe in the office of the Liggett Lumber company, on Fruit street, near the Southern Pacific railroad tracks, according to a report on file at the police station.

Entrance into the building was made by breaking out the pane of glass in the east door of the office, through which two men are believed to have climbed.

Hammers were used on the safe door, but it failed to yield to their efforts. Nothing was reported missing.

Sid Smithwick, assistant city marshal, made an investigation.

Lounge Lizards Not Popular On Marriage Mart

KANSAS CITY, Mo., May 9.—The Rev. R. C. Harding, Kansas City minister, has compiled a list of the desirable and undesirable characteristics that young men and young women look for when considering matrimony.

As the result of the circulation of a questionnaire which was designed to reveal the tastes of modern youths of unmarried age, Rev. Harding has concluded that lounge lizards and gum and rag chewers lead to the lists of unwanted.

A number of young men and young women who belong to his church responded to most of the questions asked and made no mental reservations on queries related to family finance, single standards, etc.

One girl fixed the nest egg required for matrimony at $2000; another placed it at $5000; still another demanded an automobile other than a Ford.

All of the young women who answered the questionnaire demanded a husband who made a good salary, and most of them were against liquor and tobacco.

Other specifications for the model husband included sense of humor, chivalry, musical talent, religion and modesty.

"Tee hounds" are unwanted, principally because the model husband must be able to earn a sizeable income, according to the answers.

19 MOTORISTS ARE TAGGED BY POLICE

The fact that some 60 or 70 persons have been arrested during the past 10 days on charges of parking more than two hours in the business district of the city, has had little effect on motorists who never received a tag, apparently.

Saturday morning there were 19 persons arrested within three blocks of the police station for overtime parking. One officer made all the arrests, and in one instance tagged five cars parked next to each other.

All of the 19 were charged with parking longer than two hours.

Russian Youth Is Professor at 18

MOSCOW, May 9.—A mathematical marvel, a boy of eighteen, has been appointed a full professor at the University of Tashkent. His name is Nicholas Nazarov.

He applied for admission at the Moscow university when he was 10 years old but the college authorities refused to accept his enrollment. In a special examination, however, he convinced them of his fitness and he graduated with a summa cum laude degree, the highest attainable honors, when he was only 14 years old.

LEGISLATURE TREATED STATE FARMERS WELL

SACRAMENTO, May 9.—The California farmer fared well at the hands of the 1927 legislature, it is revealed in a survey by the agricultural committee representing 75,000 farmers of the state.

More than 50 measures having the backing of the allied farm groups were approved by both houses and are now before the governor. Chief among these were measures providing stricter standardization of agricultural products, reapportionment on the farm bureau plan, regulating commission merchants and protecting the farmer against cheap fertilizer.

"Fortunately for agriculture," declared R. H. Taylor, executive secretary of the committee, "the legislature declined to act on a number of proposals that would have been extremely inimical to the farmer."

Daylight Savings Killed
"It killed the daylight saving plan; likewise bills designed to limit the number of cars in freight trains, requiring employers to furnish sheets and pillow cases to laborers in camps, changing date of assessment and prohibiting any one except licensed plumbers to install fixtures in rural communities."

"The legislature defeated the bills placing labor liens on farm crops, requiring labeling of colored butter in extra large letters, providing bounties for wild animals and prohibiting use of poison baits."

"Although it passed an amendment to the motor vehicle act restoring reasonable rights to the drivers of livestock on highway, the legislature declined to pass one bill requiring all automobiles to stop at grade crossings and another requiring all autos to be equipped with life saving devices."

"Greatest Mistake"
"The greatest mistake made, from a farmer's viewpoint, was refusal to pass a group of bills requiring proper labeling of crop seed, which would have acted as a safeguard against introduction of new noxious weeds into California."

"An important act of the legislature was to pass a measure giving farmers the same status under the workmen's compensation act as other employers. Farmers have the privilege of withdrawal if they desire, however."

"A number of bills, all providing for the sale of grain in sacks by gross weight instead of net, were tabled."

"Agriculture found itself opposed by the labor lobby almost throughout the entire session. The chief complaint was against bills that would permit women to pack and process eggs for more than eight hours in emergencies to prevent them from spoiling. This bill finally passed both houses."

Pleasing His Wife Pleasing Business

HILBERT, Minn., May 9.—Because Peter Fleming couldn't buy his wife a mink coat costing $2000 he started a mink farm which today he claims is the largest in the country.

At this time he has nearly 100 pairs of mink. They breed only once a year, producing litters of from two to nine. One mink can be raised at a feed cost of 37 cents while a perfect pelt will bring $37, according to Fleming's experience.

Fleming chopped wood at $2.25 per day to earn money to buy his first pair of mink from a Vermont breeder, at $90 per pair, five years ago. Today he owns his seven-acre farm with all of its buildings and mink pens, which he believes is the largest project of its kind in America.

CHARLESTON SAVED HIM FROM NATIVES

SYDNEY, May 9.—Menaced by savages in the island of Epl, in the New Hebrides, Palmer Kent, composer and orchestra conductor of this city, declared on his return from a holiday trip that she had saved himself from injury and possible death by giving exhibitions of the Charleston.

Kent told of his hostile reception by the natives. They crowded him about brandishing knives and guns. He had no brightly colored cloth or beads, which are generally credited with power to soothe savage native minds and take their thoughts away from subjects of cannibalistic cook-pots.

The natives began crowding round him and tearing at his clothes. Then, said Kent, he began to dance an intricate Charleston movement. His tormentors watched in awe for a while, and then all took up the dance, while Kent watched the orchestral accompaniment.

Kent was there and then made instructor in the Charleston, and soon he was teaching the dance to 200 semi-nude men, women and children. He declared that the natives proved apt pupils and they were so delighted with the Charleston that they loaded him with presents and provided him with an escort back to the coast.

FARMERS BOYCOTT TRUCKS
Farm produce agents in the vicinity of Sydney, N. Z., have decided to use horse-drawn vehicles exclusively in hauling hay, straw and chaff to the market. The decision was reached at a meeting of the farmers held recently in Sydney. It being argued that horses would eat forage while auto trucks would not, and a steady demand for forage should be built up. It was also claimed that within a radius of eight miles horses had proved to be more economical than motors.

BUTLER WILL HEAD COOLIDGE 1928 CAMPAIGN

WASHINGTON, May 9.—President Coolidge has calmed the clamor for the scalp of his friend, Chairman William M. Butler, of the Republican national committee, and Butler will lead the Coolidge presidential campaign of 1928.

This information developed from a series of events following Butler's return from an inspection tour of the west and his announcement that he intends to visit every state before the pre-convention presidential campaign opens.

Butler's extensive tour will be designed not only to line up delegates for Mr. Coolidge, but also to ward off sectional Republican leaders over the country—which are reported to have been none too cordial recently.

Guests at the president's political breakfast proceeded on the assumption that Mr. Coolidge is to be a candidate again in 1928. While the guests did not represent the president as discussing the subject, they said that the general talk was based on his running again.

HAVE AVIATION
Commercial aviation has just invaded the Belgian Congo and is giving transportation speedier than ever dreamed of by residents there. A company which has secured the exclusive franchise for operation of civil aviation lines has established regular aerial service between Boma and Elisabethville, covering the 1,289 miles in two days instead of in 50 by any other method. Flights are made every eight days to connect with mail steamers from Belgium. Hydroplane boats will provide transportation between the small towns and settlements along rivers.

Literary Revolt Stirring Russia

MOSCOW, May 9.—A literary revolt against revolutionary literature and drama is making itself felt in Russia.

Meetings of workmen have passed resolutions protesting against the never-ending communist propaganda in the theaters, which is also apparent in most of the revolutionary literature. Drama and grand opera with any sort of monarchistic tinge has been vigorously excluded from the stage.

The new literature, the work of a younger generation of writers who have come up since the Bolshevik revolution of 1917 and have developed under the influence of Communism, is also coming in for sharp criticism from the workers of Russia. Indecent frankness, under the guise of realism, and profanity of a sort which never crept into Russian literature before the World war, are particularly disliked by the lay critics. The tendency of several prominent young authors to simplify the Russian language to an extreme degree and to insert words of their own invention of localism little understood is another cause for vigorous complaint.

Do You Give Your Body the Same Chance You Do Your Car?

The wise and thrifty car owner is keenly alert to the desirability, in fact the necessity of keeping his car tuned up properly. And to do so he knows he must seek the sign indicating an establishment where he can get the class of service he demands. This, of course, means that the man who serves him must have first a training fitting him for his particular work. Second, he must have had sufficient experience to properly execute the job he has been trained for and third, he must have a reputation for integrity and dependability. The motorist DEMANDS these qualifications in a man when his car is "sick." He feels that his car deserves the very best. Does he treat his body with equal consideration?

Thousands of Motorists Look for "Authorized Service" Signs

There are thousands, yes millions, of drivers who insist on finding the recognized "service sign" that they know represents the character of service they want. Whether it be for gasoline, a tire, a battery or something more important, they only act when they see the familiar emblem that typifies dependability and responsibility.

Untold numbers of people would be in better and perhaps perfect health today if they were equally particular in insisting on finding the mark of dependability and responsibility when seeking to correct their physical troubles. It is strange, but true, that some men who will only trust a minor motor defect to the head mechanic will allow a physical ailment that promises to destroy his health be treated by one who is in no wise qualified by either training to diagnose the trouble, let alone remedy it. Why should you gamble with your health to permit another to experiment?

M. D.—Your Sign of a Reliable Physician

The man qualified to add these letters to his name is qualified by training and experience to serve you.

There is nothing that substitutes for knowledge, skill and experience and when you do less than secure the services of one without these three qualifications you are simply gambling on your own future welfare. You would not do it with your car; why do it with your health?

Those entitled to display or use the letters M. D. have spent eighteen years in preparatory work. They have followed their high school and college courses with a special course in a medical school. This has been followed by a long period of hospital experience. If the laws of the land recognize the importance of absolute competence before granting a physician his credentials why trust your health to one with a lesser qualification? You cannot afford to take chances the law won't take.

Your Personal Health and that of Your Family Demand Consideration of These Facts

Don't take a chance with inexperience on a question of vital importance. The least you can do is to get the benefit of one who is qualified and you do that when you insist on the recognized physician who is entitled to use the emblem of service—M. D.

THE ROMANCE OF AMERICA: John Jacob Astor

Sketches by Benney
Synopsis By Braucher

Astor, his fortune heaping higher and higher through the Chinese and London fur trade, looked out over the waste and farm lands of Manhattan and pondered. Some day all this would be valuable. Perhaps in his imagination he foresaw in the day of his children hotels and towers and business blocks growing out of the barren land.

He bought real estate, took mortgages, purchased farms, town lots—all the land he safely could carry as an investment.

Astor bought the English heirs' right to the famous Morris estate, confiscated by New York during the Revolutionary War.

In establishing his claim on this estate Astor profited nearly half a million dollars after a legal battle in which Daniel Webster and Martin Van Buren pleaded the state's case in vain. Astor, in the amassing of his fortune, incurred great unpopularity among the people of New York. (To Be Continued)

THE TINYMITES
STORY BY MAL COCHRAN—PICTURES BY KNICK
REG. U. S. PAT. OFF.

(READ THE STORY, THEN COLOR THE PICTURE)

The Tinymites watched the zebra race and galled all around the place. Then Clowzy said, "I'm game to ride. Just help me on his back. There really is no cause for fright. He has two heads. I'll hang on tight." Then, after he was seated, they all heard a big whip crack.

Old Daffydoo stood right nearby. "Come on Giddap!" they heard him cry. And then the zebra started off and Clowzy yelled, "Hurray!" The zebra then gave one big bound, and tossed poor Clowzy all around. He shortly found that riding was a heap more work than play.

The other Tinymites laughed aloud. To see him hang on made them proud. Then Daffydoo came running forth, and in a voice quite shrill, said, "That will be all for today." The zebra promptly came his way, and gee, before they knew it, he was standing very still.

Woe Clowzy slid off safe and sound, and felt much better on the ground. No other Tiny cared to ride, so Daffydoo said, "Well, let's go to yonder berry patch and see what berries we can snatch. If there's enough we'll have a meal. That surely will be well."

He had some baskets at his side, and as they started, Clowzy cried, "I'll fill a basket up ahead of everyone. Let's have a berry-picking race. Old Daffydoo can set the pace. And say, no matter who may win 'twill be a lot of fun."

They all began to pick real fast. An hour or two went floating past. Then Daffydoo said, "We're enough. Your strength you'd better save. We've packed a lot of baskets tight, so we will have a feast tonight. And soon the very happy bunch were hiking toward the cave."

(The Tinymites' feast is interrupted in the next story.)

QUEER QUIRKS
A WATER SCAVENGER

By Arthur N. Pack
President, American Nature Ass'n.

Here is a member of a little known family that does us a very friendly turn by keeping our fresh water lakes, ponds and streams free of refuse that would otherwise turn to offensive carrion.

Incidentally, he is the only member of that family that is not afraid of man, and that does not hesitate to defend himself vigorously if he is disturbed. His defense, too, is one to be wholly respected.

If you are not already acquainted with this hard-shelled chap, he is the snapping turtle. He lives in fresh water, usually in lakes with weed beds on the bottom, in the jungles of which he can hide.

Like all turtles, his diet is a mixed one. He eats some water plants, but he prefers a meat menu, and dead fish or other water creatures are his delight. Many a fisherman has left his catch dangling over the side of his boat for an hour or so, only to have it devoured by turtles.

However, the fisherman frequently turns the tables by eating the turtle himself. His flesh tastes somewhat like fish, and is the basis of many a prized dish.

Fond as he is of dead water creatures, the turtle does not scorn to take his prey alive, and many a baby wild duck and other water bird goes the way of his capacious throat.

As for his defense, the snapping turtle accomplishes it by biting, and his jaws are so powerful that he can sever a stick as large as one finger. Unless you can grab him by the tail, it is well to let him entirely alone.

The name of tenpenny nails is believed to have originated in Great Britain where 1000 nails of that size weighed 10 pounds.

BEAUTY CHATS
POWDERS

There are dozens of powders for dozens of purposes. If you want a really well stocked cabinet of beauty preparations, buy or make these powders—

Face powder: Buy this, and spend as much as you can afford. Or rather, spend up to $2 a large box, not more. You can buy face powders up to $5 and $10; they are a little finer than the cheaper sorts, but not enough to make any difference. You can buy perfectly good face powders for 50c a box, in a large variety of shades; if you must economize, give this price. But up to $2, you get a little finer quality, more delicate shades, and something which gives a pearly clarity to your skin.

Hair powder: Make this. Keep an old sifter top talcum can, and buy an ounce of powdered orris root to fill it. Sift some through your hair and brush it out again—wipe the brush off every few strokes on an old soft towel, and rub the towel finally all over the hair, and it will be left clean and glossy.

Bath powders: I find the very best, especially in hot weather, is a mixture of one part powdered boric acid, and three parts ordinary cooking corn starch. This is odorless; if you want perfume, mix in thoroughly a little sachet powder. You can make up any strength perfume, and the powder costs you very little.

Foot powders: This same bath bath powder will do, but a better one is half boric acid powder and half talcum. Sift a little into your shoes before you put them on, to keep the feet cool and fresh all day.

H. M. E.—There is some trouble in your system, possibly it is poor elimination, causing your skin to be overtaxed. The result would naturally be an oily skin and very much enlarged pores—blackheads follow such a condition. Righten your system and your skin will improve without all these very trying treatments.

Don't despise powder.

Friends Worth
While Writes
Olive Barton

By Olive Roberts Barton

There is a woman in "Who's Who" with a ready story for those who ask how she got there. "Once upon a time," she will tell you as she told me, with a soft burr in her voice, "I was a very blithering sort of person. Believe it or not, but I heard the janitor and his wife in the apartment where I lived dub me 'The Cactus' one time. I got that one up the dumb waiter. And I think other people dubbed me that, too, in their minds at least."

She laughed a merry little laugh that was so contagious I laughed, too. No one could associate this amiable, white-haired person with anything more prickly than lilacs.

"At thirty-two I found myself alone. I was earning my own living teaching school and had very few friends. I tried to persuade myself that I did not care. My friends expected things of you and I was watchful of what I did for others. I must have been a pleasant person," she added with a little grimace. "Even when I heard the janitor's remark I think I was secretly delighted."

"It's a far cry from the picture you draw of yourself to the philanthropic work you are doing now," I had to remark.

She nodded and opened a drawer. She took out of it the photograph of a little girl, in a little frame. "I had this taken of her a year after I got to know her," she said. "She's married now and has a family. Her name should be in 'Who's Who' instead of mine. I owe everything I have to her."

"She was in my room at school," she went on. "I found her asleep one day, her head on her desk. She had been washing, cooking and keeping house for three children under six and an old decrepit grandfather. The mother had died. Her own mother went out every day to work. She had adopted the family, that child often had, and no one interfered."

"Something happened to me that day. I adopted the family myself eventually. It is a long story. I gave up teaching and have devoted my whole life since to the only true happiness there is, looking out for others."

There is a moral. Kindness usually pays high dividends.

NEW BLACK BOTTOM

The black bottom, tamed to suit the English taste, has been introduced in London by a London dancing instructor. It is called the ballroom black bottom, and is said to be a very quiet and peaceful member of the family of shuffling feet. One difference between the ballroom black bottom and the flat Charleston is that in the first the knees are bent alternately, while in the Charleston they are bent in unison.

The WOMAN'S DAY

By Allene Sumner

Houses should be built with their backs to the street, and their fronts facing a grassy, flowery, shady, quiet court, according to a prominent architect of Paris, who would revive the middle-age way of building homes so that privacy and quiet could be had by the house-dwellers. A charming idea, only he overlooks one point—how then, could a housewife show off her new curtains?

WHEN IS AN ANTIQUE?

Paulina boastfully showed me her "new Colonial lamp" the other day for her Colonial bedroom. The chimney was even realistically smoked. I looked at Paulina in amazement, thinking how funny it was. I remembered Paulina's rage only a handful of years ago because "they didn't have electric lights like other folks," and because she had to clean the smoky chimneys of the oil lamps in the old rambling Colonial, "unimproved" house that had been her grandfather's. Paulina finally nagged the family into selling and taking "a modern house" like other people. That was perhaps 15 years ago. Now Paulina, married, "very modern," has gone in for the early American and haunts second-hand shops for the very things she despised and mocked not so many years ago. I have heard that she is fighting like mad to buy back the home of her ancestors, once so scorned a thing. Life is perplexing!

AGE AND YOUTH

Because his daughter returned from a dance later than he thought she should, an Ohio father shot and killed the 19-year-old girl. This case is but an exaggerated result of hordes of parents who fly into unreasonable rages because things are different today than they were when they were young. It seems queer to hear uncontrolled age lecture youth. It should first learn to govern itself.

TRUDY'S POP

Trudy Ederle, first woman to swim the English channel, pays her father, the much-advertised "Pop" Ederle, $1000 a week from her vaudeville earnings which, though she is supposed to be paid $6000 a week, have dwindled down to a few hundred when all expenses are paid. "Pop" gets the thousand, it seems, because he put up $1500 for Trudy's expenses. That $1000 of it was Trudy's own, given to "Pop" for safe-keeping, was never emphasized. So, in re-

Wealth has a lavish way,
Fame is of the crowd,
Sympathy must have a day
When the head is bowed.

Pride has many things to boast,
Skill and power and place,
Fancying these things uppermost,
Which is not the case.

Friendship asks no special hour
Sorrowful or gay,
Into beauty it will flower
Every passing day.

Wealth and fame and pride depart;
All that ever lives
In the memory and the heart
Is what friendship gives.

30; Pasadena 15; San Diego 9; Santa Ana 8 and Chaffey 6.

Inefficient starting cost Harvey Bear and John Moffatt their chances in the 220 and 120 yard hurdles, respectively. Bear was "left at the post" and Moffatt didn't even hear the starter say "get set." "Dink" Templeton, the Stanford track coach who was present, said all the sprinters were beating the gun by one-fifth of a second.

Most of the spectators from out of Modesto were duly impressed with the fact that it will never do again to conduct a big league meet on a bush league track. The Modesto boys tried hard to do what was right but the task was absolutely too large for them. State meets should be held only at the Los Angeles Coliseum or in the California or Stanford stadiums where the athletes can receive proper attention and the cash customers can see what is going on. Competent scoring also is one of the essentials.

LOSES AT WHITTIER

Santa Ana tennis players were eliminated in the first round of the league net tournament, held at Whittier Saturday, due to inability to enter the strongest lineup which Coach Walter Scott had planned. The principal hope of the Santa Ana racket wielders was that the second doubles team consisting of Captain Stewart McPherson and Orville Schuchardt would win out.

Schuchardt was unable to go and Coach Walter Scott teamed Arthur Stein with McPherson. The duo took the first set of their match with Alhambra 6-2 but lost the second and third by scores of 7-5, 6-4.

The Santa Ana first doubles team, Rohrs and Guard, lost to San Diego, 6-2, 6-2.

Ed Shepherd, competing in the second singles, was defeated in the first round by Kincaid, of Long Beach, 6-4, 6-4.

John Moffatt, another notorious slow-starting Polyite, was away poorly in the high hurdles but he caught all his opponents except the leaders, Welch and Ritchey, and took the last hurdle in third place but he was beaten out by Lefebvre of Manual Arts and Busano of Turlock in a desperate dive for the tape. They were all in a bunch but the judges called the turn to the crack local time topper's disadvantage.

JACK LOCKWELL'S HIDDEN ENEMY

BY GILBERT PATTEN

The Rocklake fire department was notified that the Elwell farm buildings were burning. Then Jack, who had been told how the freshman game was going, insisted on getting into his baseball suit and going to the athletic field. He arrived there and hurried to the players' bench in the last of the seventh inning. "You're a fine fellow to leave us like this, Lockwell!" said Bevins warmly.

"Don't jump on me till you hear my excuse, captain," said Jack. "How's the game stand?" "Twelve to ten against us, and Magovern's all in," was the answer.

"Maybe it can be saved yet," encouraged Jack. "Give me a man to warm up with, and then try me in there if 'Slants' doesn't buck up and hold them."

Jack lost no time about warming up, and it was well that he didn't. Magovern was "all in," just as Bevins had said. Having lost his control, he filled the bases with Midhaven runners without getting a single put-out. Then he got the hook, and Lockwell walked toward the pitcher's position. The freshman cheering squad, seeing him going to the mound, barked with joy.

NEWS FROM ORANGE COUNTY TOWNS

SAN MARTINEZ WELL THOUGHT READY TO FLOW

HUNTINGTON BEACH, May 9.—The San Martinez oil company, in the town lot section at Ninth street and Ocean avenue, set the wheels of the local oil industry buzzing yesterday, when it started construction of two large steel oil tanks near the Ninth street well.

Reports were current today that the well has been cemented at approximately 5000 feet and from the fact that the company is erecting oil tanks it is evident that company officials expect to bring in a well. Reports to the effect that the well would be plugged back to 3800 feet were reported groundless.

The Superior Oil company, located less than a block away from the San Martinez well with its Walker No. 1 has two large steel tanks up and yesterday the well was seething with activity. It is believed that the Superior company is making ready to bring in a well.

Should either the San Martinez or the Superior companies bring in a well in the district, a general rush toward the business district of town can be expected.

The U. S. Royalties company Saturday was issued a permit to erect a new oil rig on the corner of Sixteenth street and Walnut avenue. The permit was the only one issued for an oil rig during the past week. There are now 11 oil rigs up or under construction in the section east of Seventeenth street.

BEACH RED CROSS FUND TOTALS $352

HUNTINGTON BEACH, May 9.—A total of $352.50 was raised by the local Red Cross for the Mississippi valley flood-relief fund, it was announced here today by J. A. Armitage, secretary of the local Red Cross chapter. The money was raised in an intensive one-day campaign.

Brea Auxiliary Will Entertain District Officer

Plans for the entertainment of Miss Grace Weston, executive chairman of the 11th district, are being made by members of the American Legion auxiliary for their meeting on May 11th. A pot-luck dinner will be served at 6:15 o'clock to be followed by the business session at which the new members acquired by the recent membership drive will be initiated. A program of songs, piano numbers and other features will be offered. At their meeting on May 18 the losing side of the membership drive, headed by their captain, Mrs. Freda Ward, will entertain all the members of the auxiliary with a program and refreshments, details of which are being kept a secret.

R. C. Bell Sells Newport Business

NEWPORT BEACH, May 9.—R. C. Bell, local confectionery store owner, has sold his business in Newport Beach to E. I. Moore, of 1812 Central avenue, it was made known today. Bell is at present located in temporary quarters pending the completion of the E. K. Stone building on the triangle lot between Twenty-first place and the ocean front.

Shell Ready For Test At Placentia

PLACENTIA, May 9.—The Shell Oil company will start work on its Aliso No. 1 near Placentia within the next 10 days, it was announced today by company officials. The Shell holds some 20 tracts in the district, including the State and Kraemer holdings. Several years ago the Perter-Wentz well was drilled in the vicinity, the result being a "duster." Field men attribute its failure to get oil to the fact that it failed to go deep enough for a complete test.

NEWPORT EXPECTS 30,000 FISHERMEN

NEWPORT BEACH, May 9.—Thirty thousand fishermen are expected in Newport Beach during the summer months, according to local fishing experts. Preparations are being made to care for that number by the operators of live bait and ocean going fishermen's barges.

An increase of several thousand over the number previously cared for is expected owing to the increased popularity of this section as a fishermen's paradise, according to those who keep in touch with various visiting fishermen other cities.

Contests by local bait and tackle stores and other incentives to the experts with rod and reel are expected to add to the interest of fishermen.

Plan Dance At Los Alamitos for Victims of Flood

LOS ALAMITOS, May 9.—An invitation is extended to the public to attend a card party this evening at 8 o'clock. The affair is sponsored by the Woman's Improvement club and will be held in the clubhouse. The proceeds will be given to the stricken people in the flood district.

Mrs. Nancy Gage Is Laid to Rest

FULLERTON, May 9.—Funeral services were conducted this morning for Mrs. Nancy Silvina Gage, 82, pioneer resident of this city, who passed away at her home, 324 West Wilshire avenue, Friday.

Mrs. Gage came to this city 24 years ago. She was a charter member of the First Baptist church of Fullerton, and was active in the Woman's Christian Temperance union in this city. Her husband, Charles Stoten Gage, passed away last October in this city.

The deceased leaves a son, Earl D. Gage, and six daughters, Mrs. Iva F. Hoyt, Mrs. Christelle Bosworth, who made her home with her mother here; Mrs. Helen McGimpsey, Mrs. Laura Gregory, Mrs. Zerelda Tate, all of this city, and Mrs. Effie I. Hancock, of San Jacinto.

The services were conducted at the Baptist church with the Rev. S. Fraser Langford, of the Baptist church, and Stewart Butts, of the Four Square Gospel, officiating. The grandsons of Mrs. Gage were pallbearers. Interment was in Loma Vista cemetery.

FISHERMAN FINED
NEWPORT BEACH, May 9.—George Van Pelt, local fisherman, was sentenced to pay a $25 fine and given a 25-day jail sentence here yesterday when he pleaded guilty to a charge of being intoxicated, before City Recorder W. A. Leonard. The jail sentence was suspended for one year pending Van Pelt's good behavior, according to Judge Leonard.

CITRUS PLANTS IN PLACENTIA SECTION ACTIVE

PLACENTIA, May 9.—The Placentia Mutual Orange association shipped 36 cars of fruit last week and expects to increase the output to 43 cars of oranges and two of lemons this week. Five cars of oranges, lemons and grapefruit were shipped to Honolulu on the Steamer "Calawal" on Saturday, this being the second shipment of fruit this season to Honolulu. On Saturday two cars of oranges were shipped on the Steamship "Ruth Alexander" for Vancouver.

The Placentia Orange Growers' association, including both the Fullerton and Placentia packing houses is shipping about 50 cars per week.

Bradford Brothers are putting out two or three cars per day and will continue the same schedule throughout the season.

The Placentia Co-operative Orange association is only shipping four or five cars a week on account of the market being dull, and so many navel oranges being on the market.

Costa Mesa Man Sends Oranges to Hawaiian Islands

COSTA MESA, May 9.—Like "carrying coals to Newcastle" comes the report that B. D. Messing of Costa Mesa, is now shipping oranges to customers in the Hawaiian Islands. During the past two months Mr. Messing has made a number of shipments to Honolulu, and during the past week he made a shipment to Hilo. His fruit has been highly complimented by consumers on the islands who state that it is far superior to that grown on local plantations.

On the last trip of the "City of Los Angeles" to Honolulu, it is reported that the vessel carried a large shipment of oranges from California, so large, in fact, that longshoremen were engaged for 18 hours in unloading the golden fruit. Mr. Messing has shipped but a few crates on each trip of the vessel which were consigned to customers who ordered them direct from the grower. However, it is possible that these shipments may lead to the development of a new market for Costa Mesa orange growers.

LOS ALAMITOS

LOS ALAMITOS, May 9.—The Willing Workers' club met on Tuesday afternoon in the city hall, with Mrs. Young presiding. Most of the afternoon was spent in discussing and planning for the church bazaar to be held on Friday evening. A social hour followed and dainty refreshments were served by the Mesdames J. A. C. and Ray Sjostrom.

The Polinsett club met on Friday afternoon in the water company building. This being naturnal day, Mrs. Ruth N. Thompson placed a bowl of nasturtiums in the center of the table and gave a poem about this flower. A social hour of bridge followed. Mrs. Ruth N. Thompson scored high. Dainty refreshments were served by the hostesses, Mesdames Thompson and Bloomquist. The next meeting will be an all day affair, when Mrs. F. T. Kuenster, of 412 Almond avenue, Long Beach, will entertain the club at her beautiful mountain cabin at Lake Elsinore.

H. B. PARTY WEDNESDAY HUNTINGTON BEACH, May 9.

Members of the Mooseheart organization will sponsor a card party at Anders' hall Wednesday night. It was announced today. The party will be in charge of Mrs. L. S. Burnett.

FULLERTON PLANTS SEND 293 CARS OF VALENCIA ORANGES EAST IN WEEK

FULLERTON, May 9.—Exceeding the previous week's shipment by 86 cars, the packing houses of Fullerton shipped out 293 cars of oranges last week, according to reports from the various houses. It is indicated that the peak has not been reached and that this week more than 300 cars will be sent on their way east.

Officials stated that since the month of May is a great consuming month for oranges in the east, as many as possible are being sent.

CAPISTRANO SHIPS LAST LETTUCE CAR

SAN JUAN CAPISTRANO, May 9.—With the shipment of the 13th car of lettuce from San Juan Capistrano, the lettuce harvest of 1927 practically closed last week. There will be scattering yield for several weeks, but such will scarcely be sufficient to supply the local demand, it is explained.

Practically the entire lettuce output from San Juan Capistrano was produced by Aaron Buchheim.

RECORD LEMONS CLAIMED BY MESAN

COSTA MESA, May 9.—J. G. Schaefer, Seventeenth street and Santa Ana avenue, claims the record for the largest lemons grown in Southern California. Twelve of his lemons weighed 12 pounds, 14 ounces.

The lemons were all grown on one tree in a mixed orchard of five acres, on which Schaefer has resided for six years. He cleared $1100 from the place in 1925. He says he has 60 lemons that weigh a pound a piece. He claims one of his lemons contains as much juice as six of average size and he secured a price of five cents per pound for them. He looks for a good fruit season this year.

Music Program Is Given In School

FULLERTON, May 9.—As a fitting conclusion to Music week, a unique concert was presented Saturday night at the Fullerton union high school auditorium by the music department of the school.

Noteworthy features of the program were orchestra selections, with one of the students, Leo Tanquary, conducting the orchestra, and instrumental solos by musicians who won high honors in the county Elstiedoff contest which was held last month in Fullerton.

Many novelty numbers were offered by the glee clubs, one of which was a set of two costumed songs and characteristic dances with 27 girls taking part. Solo dances were furnished by Marcelina Arroues and Grace Hiriogoyen.
